IMPRISONED IRANIAN HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVIST WINS NOBEL PEACE PRIZE

The Nobel Peace Prize was awarded on Friday to Narges Mohammadi for her decades-long fight against the oppression of women in Iran

CAMPAIGNER AGAINST MANDATORY HIJAB

The 51-year-old has spent much of the past two decades in and out of jail for her activism. Her latest incarceration began in 2021 after she attended a memorial event for a protester killed by security forces. Her activism continues in jail with her burning her hijab last month to mark the death anniversary of Mahsa Amini, who died after being arrested for violating Iran's dress code

SENTENCED TO 31 YEARS IN JAIL, 154 LASHES

- The Iranian government has arrested her 13 times, convicted her five times, and sentenced her to a total of 31 years and 154 lashes
- The head of the Norwegian Nobel Committee urged Iran to release her. "I appeal to Iran: Do something dignified and release Narges Mohammadi," committee chairperson Berit Reiss-Andersen said | P12

Inflation shock RBI's big worry, rate unchanged

Concern over extra liquidity in the banking system; benchmark repo rate kept at 6.5%

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

THE Reserve Bank of India (RBI) on Friday kept the benchmark repo rate unchanged at 6.5% as expected, but the uncertainty around inflation weighed on its policy stance, which was aggressive towards both rates and liquidity.

Repo rate is the rate of interest RBI charges banks when the latter borrows money from the central bank to make up for shortage of funds.

Sounding caution on the inflation side, the RBI kept its inflation estimate for FY24 at 5.4%. "The overall inflation outlook is clouded by uncertainties from the fall in kharif sowing for key crops like pulses and oilseeds, low reservoir levels, and volatile global food and energy prices," RBI governor Shaktikanta Das said.

The Monetary Policy Committee (MPC), which decides the policy rates, has flagged the risk of large and overlapping food price shocks on headline inflation, Das added.

The RBI has been keeping the policy rate at 6.5% for eight months now. "The longest transitory period in repo rate's history when it was kept on pause prior to a cut was 12 months, in 2014. A similar event can't be ruled out this time if the impact of food prices from lower kharif acreage does not impact RBI's forecast for overall inflation for the rest of FY24," said Debopam Chaudhuri, chief economist, Piramal Group.

The MPC feels that despite a 250 bps increase in repo rates from May 2022 to January 2023, the transmission of the increase to bank lending and deposit rates is still incomplete.

The central bank has also retained its earlier GDP growth projection of 6.5% for FY24.

Notably, Das reiterated that excessive liquidity in the banking system poses risk to both price and financial stability.

RBI had sucked out ₹1.1 lakh crore excessive liquidity through a temporary measure of incremental cash reserve ratio (I-CRR) announced on August 10. The I-CRR is slated to be withdrawn by 8 October, releasing excess liquidity.

The RBI has also said it may go for an open market sale of bonds to keep the liquidity in check. The likelihood of an open market sale of bonds led to a 15 bps jump in the 10-year government bond yield to 7.36%, its biggest rise in a session since 4 May. P13

Excess Canadian diplomats 'exit'

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

WITH less than four days to go for the October 10 deadline to downsize its diplomatic strength in India, Canada reportedly shifted some of its 41 'excess' diplomats to Kuala Lumpur and Singapore.

The Canadian High Commission in Delhi, when contacted, refrained from making any comment on the transfer that was reported by CTV News, a private Canadian television network.

India has 21 diplomats in Canada while Canada has 62. The extra 41 were directed to be withdrawn, else they would be declared persona non grata. Most of them had been posted in Chandigarh and Delhi, according to a source.

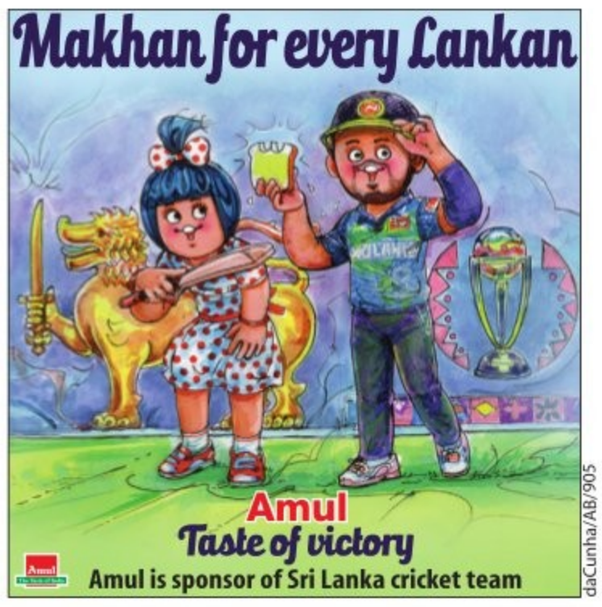
'No looking back till Canada does U-turn'

"Till Canada does a U-turn or offers a clarification clearing the air on India's involvement in the killing of the Khalistani radical, there can be no looking back," a source said

"Canada is not taking any chances hence the number of diplomats that are being considered in excess have been posted out. Some to Kuala Lumpur and Singapore. It is unprecedented. It all began with Canada expelling an Indian diplomat," said a source.

India has been repeatedly telling Canada to rein in those accused of terrorist activities, which includes threatening Indian diplomats in Canada.

"We had to stop visa services for Canada as our diplomats were threatened. It wasn't safe for them to travel to the mission for consular services," External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar had recently said, adding Canada has a toxic mix of criminals, terrorists and traffickers. The diplomatic row began when Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau alleged that India was involved in the killing of Khalistani radical Hardeep Singh Nijjar. Following this, Canada expelled an Indian diplomat.



Despite Siddu's no, DKS bats for new liquor shops

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chitradurga/Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah and his deputy DK Shivakumar seem to differ on granting licenses for new liquor shops in the State. While Siddaramaiah had categorically stated that the government will not grant licenses to open new liquor shops, Shivakumar indirectly stressed the need for more such outlets to provide jobs to people.

Excise Minister RB Thimmapur too had stated that the government is considering a proposal to grant new licenses for liquor shops in the limits of gram panchayats which have a population of more than 3,000 people. This had evoked criticism from leaders of opposition parties and various sections of society.

"No we are not opening, who said we are opening? We will think about it, but we will not open," the minister said in response to a question by reporters in Chitradurga on Friday.

However, Shivakumar, who was in Ramanagara, stressed the need to open new liquor shops as no new licenses have been issued in the State in the past 30 years. If new liquor shops are opened, they will help provide jobs to many unemployed people, he said.

"In Karnataka, no new licenses for liquor shops have been granted in the past 30 years. Because of this, those having licenses are now selling each of them for Rs 4 crore to Rs 5 crore," he said.

"More liquor outlets means more people getting jobs. Where to open and when to open will be decided by the government. We will not decide to open liquor shops in every village. But one thing is sure, one can't stop people from drinking. The chief minister will take a decision on granting licenses for new liquor shops in the coming days," Shivakumar said.

Meanwhile, leaders of BJP and JDS, and women's organisations criticised the government after the minister stated that a suggestion to open new liquor shops was made at a meeting recently. However, no decision was taken on it at the meeting.

Former CM HD Kumaraswamy had accused the government of trying to mobilise funds for its guarantee schemes by opening more liquor shops in the State. The BJP and JDS termed it "liquor bhagya".

A video grab shows farmer Appasaheb Yakkundi trying to consume pesticide, even as he is stopped by officials, in Kalakuppi, Belagavi district, on Friday

Farmer attempts suicide in front of central team

BELAGAVI: A farmer from Kalakuppi village in Bailhongal taluk attempted suicide in the presence of an inter-ministerial central team on drought on Friday. Appasaheb Yakkundi suffered crop loss and tried to take his life by consuming pesticide, alleging that the team did not listen to his problems. As the members were busy taking note of crop loss, Yakkundi rushed towards them with a bottle of pesticide. Before Yakkundi could drink it, policemen snatched it from him.

'#isbaar100paar': India on the mark, as Asian Games takes final turn

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@ Hangzhou

WHEN it all started, #isbaar100paar seemed like a dream, almost. From an Indian perspective, the Asian Games began in an unsavoury way. Three wushu athletes weren't granted accreditations. In response, Union sports minister, Anurag Thakur, boycotted the Opening Ceremony. Two weeks later, India's sporting ecosystem can afford to celebrate as they will leave Hangzhou with at least the magical figure of 100.

Adding gold in the most romantic of Indian sports, men's hockey, was a cherry on top. Japan did not pose a threat in the four quarters India dominated and scored five. With this the team has secured Olympic quota as well. The badminton duo of Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty were in sublime form to book historic final berth.

After beginning Friday on 86, they added more medals including a first-ever silver in men's team recurve. That's been one of the themes of these Games. The contingent has won medals for the first time ever in many disciplines (women's 5000m gold, 50m 3P gold, dressage medals, women's cricket gold to name a few). In all, they have picked up medals in 22 out of the 41 disciplines, including in chess when the medals will be handed out officially on Saturday.

Because they have picked up a substantial number of gold as well — 22 (as on Friday), six better than the previous 16 they managed at Jakarta five years ago — they are well placed to finish fourth on the medals table. This is set to be another historic achievement as India had never finished fourth or better since the 1960s. This number could swell on the final day of action on Saturday (there's no Indian interest on Sunday) as there are multiple finals lined up in archery, badminton, kabaddi as well as cricket. To recognise such an achievement, there is set to be a function with Prime Minister Narendra Modi soon after the contingent return after the Closing Ceremony on Sunday.

The mood music is in sharp contrast even a month or two ago when a series of governance issues in various administrations was making the headlines. Some players hadn't been sent, selection issues had to be sorted out by the court and athletes faced a nervous wait.

No wonder Bhupinder Singh Bajwa, chef-de-mission, couldn't hide his smiles. "It is a proud moment and I must thank our athletes for helping us realise this dream," he said while taking in the action from the wrestling hall on Friday. "Honestly, when we set the target of 100 medals, I did not believe we could achieve it, but once the 70-medal mark was breached, it gave an extra push to our athletes," he said. P15

Genuine cases of SC/STs lost due to frivolous petitions: K'taka HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

QUASHING the proceedings against a headmaster in a frivolous case registered by a teacher under the SC/ST (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, the High Court of Karnataka directed the State Government to recover Rs 1.50 lakh paid in aid to the complainant for repeated abuse of the process of law.

The court also directed the government to scrutinise papers before granting any aid so that the public money is spent only on cases faced by the SCs and STs and not by frivolous litigants. If no direction of this kind is issued, it would amount to putting a premium on the frivolous litigation, Justice M Nagaprasanna said while passing his order on a petition by Shivalingappa B Kerakalamatti, the headmaster of Shri Maradi Malleshwara School in Bagalkot district, questioning the case registered by Chandru Rathod, the teacher, over his reinstatement after he was dismissed from service in 2012, alleging certain omissions and commissions.

Referring to the 'B' report filed by Amingad police in 2020, the judge noted that it stated that the complainant is habitual and he has stock witnesses with him. Names of witnesses are also indicated in the 'B' report. He uses those witnesses for all his complaints. What shocks the court is that every time the complainant gets a case registered, he approaches the Social Welfare Department and claims aid to fight it. This public money was used to fight frivolous cases. It is for this reason that genuine cases of the SCs and STs are lost in the multitude of such frivolous cases.

Auto driver assaults, robs hearing-impaired man

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

IN a horrendous case that casts doubts on the security of lone passengers travelling in app-based autos, a 40-year-old hearing-impaired man was brutally assaulted and pushed out of a moving autorickshaw to be left paralysed and unconscious due to traumatic brain and spinal injuries and fractured ribs.

The victim, identified as Jeetendra B Shah, was also robbed of his wallet containing Rs 7,500, his mobile phone and hearing aid.

The incident took place in full public view around 10 am on Thursday after the vehicle left an auto gas-filling station near Metro Cash & Carry at Yeshwanthpur in Subramanyanagar police limits.

Shah, who works as a manager with an online bus ticketing platform, booked the autorickshaw around 9.30 am through an app from Majestic to the residential apartment complex on 2nd Main, Goraguntepalya, where he lives with his sister Ketki A Thakkar and her husband.

After filling gas and leaving the station, the driver allegedly asked Shah to pay him. When Shah took out his wallet, the driver allegedly snatched it. The driver also grabbed his mobile phone and hearing aid. He was then pushed out of the moving autorickshaw as it passed the road leading to Orion Mall.

It is yet to be confirmed whether Shah's severe injuries are due to the impact of the fall from the moving autorickshaw or whether he was beaten up. It is also yet to be established whether the driver had accomplices. Shah is yet to give his statement as he is in the ICU.

BBMP health centres, hosps get quality nod

Doctors gather at Palike office, Town Hall to promote 'Brand Bengaluru'

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

"BRAND Bengaluru is important for a city like Bengaluru. The fact that BBMP's 35 health centres and six referral hospitals were certified as NQAS -- National Quality Assurance Standard achievers – makes me proud," Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar said.

On Friday, doctors celebrated 'Brand Bengaluru' which will be launched shortly, and their success in getting 41 health facilities -- 35 BBMP health centres and six referral hospitals achieving NQAS. Dr Shobha, district programme officer for quality assurance, along with CHO A S Balasundar and CHO Nirmala Buggi told TNIE, "We started this initiative six months ago and at first, we could manage only seven centres, but gradually we worked hard and a total of 41 centres passed the stringent standards. Patient satisfaction has improved tremendously, and mortality and infections have come down. Soon, each one of our units will have NQAS certification."

Doctors from various BBMP hospitals celebrate after their centres received National Quality Assurance Standard certificates, at Town Hall on Friday | SHASHIDHAR BYRAPPA

Happy doctors from BBMP hospitals gathered at the BBMP head office and Town Hall to promote Brand Bengaluru, and celebrate the recognition given to BBMP hospitals and health centres. A poem written by Bengalurean Anjana Raman was circulated and a song was sung for the special occasion by another Bengalurean, Rakshana Sridhar.

BBMP's six referral hospitals also achieved national LaQshya quality care in the labour room and Operation Theatre. In the next few months, all BBMP hospitals will undergo NQAS assessment and be certified as quality care BBMP hospitals. Health centres which have achieved state certification for quality medical care will shortly be receiving national certification.

To celebrate this, a group of around 35 doctors gathered at the BBMP head office and recalled the efforts they are putting into making Brand Bengaluru a success.

BBMP CHO AS Balasundar, Dr Shobha and NR Suresh, former senior regional director, said, "All the BBMP's health facilities are working to meet NQAS standards and soon, all of them will be on board. The beneficiaries of BBMP's improved healthcare facilities will be ordinary Bengalureans. On an annual basis, BBMP's total healthcare facilities see about 20 lakh footfall and about 16,000 deliveries are done at maternity hospitals. BBMP's health infrastructure received a recent booster shot when more than 50 lakh people queued up at PHCs for their vaccine doses.

Rly Board member reviews suburban project, stations

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

MEMBER Infrastructure at Railway Board, Roop Narayan Sunkar, on Friday reviewed numerous projects across the Bengaluru Division, including the Bengaluru Suburban Rail Project.

Speaking to TNIE, Sunkar said he had asked the Bengaluru Railway Division and the nodal agency for implementing the Suburban Rail, K-RIDE, to work together to sort out some issues, particularly that of land availability.

"There are 11 railway crossings that come in the path of the suburban project and they need to be removed by building underbridges. There is some delay taking place on account on these issues as trains need to be run regularly without disruption and the level crossing too needs to be replaced," Sunkar said.

He also reviewed the Cantonment and Yesvantpur stations where massive redevelopment work is on.

About the Cantonment railway station, the Member said that it was progressing well and would be completed by December 2026. "Yesvantpur railway station had some obstacles and they have all been removed now and work is on the right track," he added.

Later, addressing top railway officers in the Division, Sunkar asked all departments to work together in creating required infrastructure with an emphasis on safety.

'Need to view Cauvery water issue through historical lens'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE 2018 Supreme Court verdict did not provide a definitive solution for various scenarios, especially during times of deficit rainfall in the Cauvery basin. There are many unanswered questions about water-sharing with Tamil Nadu under such circumstances that need to be looked at, said former IPS officer C Chandrashekar.

He was speaking at a panel discussion titled "Trials and Tribulations on Cauvery" organised by Bangalore Political Action Committee (B.PAC) here on Friday. The panel discussion included Kannada union leaders, law students and the public, emphasising the importance of viewing the issue through a historical lens.

Chandrashekar, who has penned the book 'Cauvery Dispute and Historical Perspective', said the governments should now look at multiple solutions, including from a historical lens. The discussion served as a platform for informed dialogue, fostering a better understanding of the complexities surrounding the Cauvery River dispute. It brought to light the challenges faced by Karnataka in ensuring a fair and sustainable allocation of water resources from the river, particularly during reduced rainfall.

Former bureaucrat K Jairaj underscored the significance of Cauvery water for both drinking and irrigation, highlighting the government's efforts to address the issue. He stressed the need for a strong legal stance to advocate Karnataka's interests in the Cauvery dispute and secure justice for the state.

B'luru's past comes alive in photos

BENGALURU'S prominent landmarks tell stories dating back hundreds of years, making the city's past a vibrant tapestry with strong roots. Taking individuals back to the time of Kempegowda, Bangalore University, in collaboration with the Indian Council of Historical Research (ICHR), organised a 'History and Heritage, Photographic Exhibition', at the History Museum on Friday.

Over 100 evocative photographs took visitors back to old Bengaluru, during 1513 CE, the Nadaprabhu Kempegowda era. The rare photos included those of bustling city streets, heritage structures, temples, and iconic markets. Nagarathnamma S, Professor at the Department of History, said, "The photographs were resourced by ICHR over the years and were preserved. The exhibition highlights the importance of documenting history for coming generations."

The photos also include architectural marvels, such as Tipu Sultan's Summer Palace, the Karnataka High Court, Lalbagh and Cubbon Park. Certain lakes, and streets such as Ulsoor Lake, Avenue Road, KR Market, BEL Road, and many more were on display, drawing a huge contrast between these city hotspots now and then.

A lecture was given by SK Aruni, Deputy Director, on the origin and activities of ICHR.

Mahadevapura residents to launch anti-violation drive, want BBMP to act

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FRUSTRATED over increasing building plan violations and illegal constructions in Mahadevapura Zone, residents and activists announced that they would launch a 'spot the violation' campaign, encouraging citizens to report violations, supported by photos, in all the 11 wards of Mahadevapura Assembly constituency.

The residents who attended the online meeting organised by Mahadevapura Zonal Commissioner Dr KV Thrilok Chandra on Friday, also spoke about how layouts are overburdened with commercial activities. They demanded BBMP's attention and asked top officials to direct local engineers to stick to rules and act on complaints.

"Over the years, layouts are getting overcrowded in Mahadevapura Zone. All this is because many owners get plans approval from the BBMP, but deviate and put up extra floors. There are instances where people undertake construction without getting plans approved from the Palike. Due to these anomalies, the layouts are turning out to be new slums and basic amenities are impacted. There are power outages and there is an impact of sewage pipes, including leakages," said citizen activist Sandeep Anirudhan.

Jagadish Reddy from Varthur Rising also echoed the same and blamed corporation officials, like the assistant executive engineer and assistant engineer, claiming that they face political pressure.

The residents also mentioned that some apartment dwellers are facing issues in getting 'khata' certificates, where brokers are taking advantage of the situation. At the meeting, the residents also highlighted the issue where brokers were approaching apartment complexes offering to get the services done for a commission. Addressing this, Trilok Chandra directed the concerned officials to look into the issue.

The residents also pointed that some of the complaints listed on Sahaya app were being closed without even being addressed. The residents also asked the Zonal Commissioner to direct the officials to conduct regular ward committee meetings.

The Mahadevapura Zonal Commissioner also asked the Joint Commissioner of Mahadevpura Zone Dr Dakshayini K to prepare a rota for officials to conduct and attend ward committee meetings and address issues raised by the residents.

Free scholarship programme for girl students

BENGALURU: Rashtroththana Parishad is accepting applications for Sadhana, a free scholarship programme, designed to help girl students in Karnataka aspiring to become doctors. Candidates keen to become teachers can also apply, and they will be imparted special coaching for CET. The programme is open to girl students, who have scored over 90% in Class 9, and have an annual family income of under Rs 2 lakh. Students will receive free residential education and coaching for two years (Classes 11 and 12), as well as all the costs associated with NEET exam. It also aims to help students clear NEET exam and secure MBBS seats in government medical colleges. Students are selected through a competitive process. Application can be submitted though the official website: www.tapassaadhana.org.

Take up courses on speech, hearing: Min to students

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

MINISTER for Higher Education, Dr MC Sudhakar, on Friday urged students to take up clinical courses on speech and hearing, which can help underprivileged individuals live a respectful life. He was speaking at the SR Chandrasekhar Institute of Speech and Hearing on the occasion of its 46th Founder's Day, the graduation ceremony and donors meeting in the city.

The minister added, "Many just want to hop onto the bandwagon and be part of courses such as medicine, dentistry, law, and commerce, but not many want to help in contributing to society. However, you have pledged to help the disabled and instil confidence in them."

Sudhakar also encouraged students to open more of such institutions across cities and states, reaching many needy individuals. The minister also lauded SR Chandrasekhar Institute for building exceptional facilities for children with hearing and speech problems.

Institution members requested Sudhakar to consider the courses for some grants as it cannot provide the students with the same salary packages as private and government colleges as the field is niche. SR Chandrasekhar will be approaching the education department to discuss the proposal further.

The donors and ENT experts were also felicitated during the event for their contributions. Over 20 students were awarded degrees for Masters in Audiology.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

7TH October : I'm rather keen on today's realistic Moon. It sends out a strong message that it's best to look out for details and adopt a sound, practical approach in all matters - even when you're having fun. In my opinion, a lingering Sun-Uranus aspect is still a warning that risks are best avoided.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
A couple of tricky aspects should make this a relatively important period in your life, and as you look back, you will see how even chance events were to have a very deep significance. It follows that careful planning is necessary, but you should also be open to spontaneous invitations.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
The world is polarised between two completely opposing forces, and you're in the middle! If there is any way out of a current dilemma, you may be best advised not to take it. By that, I mean that you may do very well indeed if you stick around and face up to even impossible challenges.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You're still in an energetic phase, but I think you should accord a slightly higher priority to communication rather than action. It's not facts which are important, though: rather it's the inner meaning which needs to be understood. If you get a grip on the big picture then everything else should fall into place.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You can't always control other people's reactions, but certain individuals still need to realise that you shouldn't be needled, undermined or exploited. You may have to buy yourself out of a problem and spend your way to happiness. In any event, a generous gesture would not go amiss.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
New and exciting planetary aspects are added to what we know already, making it certain that you're now about to hit the stratosphere. You may still be on the launch pad, but you've plenty of time, so don't worry that you're about to be left behind.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
If you take your mind back to what occurred about six months ago, you will see that there are strange connections with what is happening now. You may therefore be in a fine position to learn from your mistakes, which must surely be a valuable bonus!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
This is no time to go over old ground. Rather you should be building for the future. Go for serious pleasures and cultural pursuits if you can and, romantically, make commitment your goal, even if socially you're becoming something of a butterfly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Partners or close associates may very soon be more than a little surprised by a change in your attitudes or lifestyle. The next few days ought to be enlightening and you should allow yourself to be as spontaneous as possible. Keep your diary open!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
There are a couple of extremely difficult aspects, but their relationship to your sign seems to be rather incidental. It's therefore likely that you'll dodge any flying missiles and have a pleasant time. Oh, and family contacts should be strengthened and treasured.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Financial matters need to be handled with care, but you can probably afford to put certain obligations to one side. What's more important today is the quality of your social contacts and, if a short journey is necessary, don't delay. One friend who understands you is worth more than a thousand casual acquaintances.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Once in a while the planetary aspects assume truly magical proportions. Today is one such moment. Even if life is currently rather tranquil, take a little time to meditate on what could be. The point is that you have to establish exactly what you should be doing.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You should be aware that it is possible to get your own way without actually saying what you want. The nice thing about the present time is that you may need to do no more than send out the right telepathic signals. Give it a try! And if it doesn't work, adopt a different approach.

Prankster who scared women on Metro held

Posted videos on Insta; Bike registration number helps BMRCL track him; 23-year-old to be produced in court today

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

A 23-year-old was booked by police for his attempts to frighten women commuters on an escalator in a Metro station, and posting the video on his Instagram account. The accused, Prajwal, had also tried to shock commuters on a train from Vijayanagar Metro Station to Kempegowda Metro Station by pretending to have a health condition which made him almost collapse. He will be produced in court on Saturday for risking the safety of passengers.

Prajwal, a B.Com graduate, is a resident of Priyadarshini Layout in Moodalapalya in Bengaluru.

It was pm;u on Thursday that the Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) security team received an anonymous clipping of the stunt he did inside a train. A source said, "Though the prankster had uploaded the video on July 14 this year under the name of Prank Praju, we got to know about it just a day ago. We immediately asked Govindaraj Nagar police to file a Non-Cognisable Report. We tracked his Instagram account and found another video of him trying to frighten women standing behind him on an escalator inside a Metro station. Attempting to scare women is just not acceptable, so we urged police to book him under stringent sections of the law. He was booked under Karnataka Police Act 1963 Sections 92 (O) and (R). We will produce him in the 2nd Metropolitan Magistrate court on Saturday."

They deal with a person who wilfully and indecently exposes his person, uses indecent language or behaves indecently in public, and uses threatening or insulting words or posts to disturb peace.

On checking his other posts, the BMRCL security team found him indulging in numerous pranks using a bike (KA-02 JZ 8337). "We tracked the owner through a transport app and he confessed he had sold it to his friend, Prank Praju. We managed to get the address and mobile number from him," the source explained.

On Friday, BMRCL asked him to report to the police station for further inquiry and then took him to Vijayanagar Metro Station.

A S Shankar, Executive Director, Operations and Maintenance, BMRCL, told TNIE, "We have imposed a penalty of Rs 500 on him at Vijayanagar Metro Station under Section 59 of Metro Railway (Operation & Maintenance) Act for committing nuisance and interfering with the comfort of passengers."

Meanwhile, Raju, Prajwal's friend, who recorded the prank videos for him, is not in Bengaluru and the police have summoned him.

DA case: Court sends Customs official to 4 years in prison

YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

THE Special Court for CBI cases on Friday sentenced Attar Mohammad Shafiullah, Superintendent of Customs in the office of the Commissioner for Central Excise and GST in Mangaluru, to undergo simple imprisonment for four years and pay a fine of Rs 2 lakh in a disproportionate assets (DA) case. Judge HA Mohan also passed an order to confiscate DA of Rs 8.25 lakh (15.26%) by the Central Government.

The judge, however, acquitted Asra Shafi, wife of Shafiullah, since there is no material on record which is beyond reasonable doubt to prove alleged abetment on her part. She was the second accused in the case registered by the CBI under the provisions of the Prevention of Corruption Act.

The judge said the court cannot conclude that an unfair investigation had been conducted though there were some minor procedural lapses on the part of the investigating agency. Also, the court cannot accept the arguments of the counsel of the accused, that the procedure adopted was not fair about the inventory and search. There may be some minor discrepancies but Shafiullah failed to give a satisfactory account about 15.26% DA beyond his known source of income, hence the court had to accept the case of the prosecution that Shafiullah committed the offence within the purview of the Prevention of Corruption Act, the judge observed.

According to the prosecution, Shafiullah was working as Superintendent of Customs at the office of the Principal Commissioner of Customs at Kempegowda International Airport in Bengaluru, when a crime was registered against him on March 1, 2018, by the CBI for allegedly possessing assets disproportionate to his known sources of income.

The CBI searched Shafiullah's house on the same day and seized documents about assets, properties and investments and took an inventory of household items, gold jewellery and bank locker held in his wife's name.

Life term for 5 in Sullia med college official's murder

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE High Court of Karnataka has sentenced five persons to life imprisonment for murdering AS Ramakrishna, who was the administrator of KVG Medical College at Sullia in Dakshina Kannada, a decade ago. The five accused are Dr Renuka Prasad, Manoj Rai, Nagesh HR, Vaman Poojary and Shankara from Dakshina Kannada and Hassan districts.

Ramakrishna was murdered while he was returning home after an evening walk on April 28, 2011, at Sullia. He was attacked with swords over partition of properties between him and Dr Renuka Prasad.

A division bench of Justices Sreenivas Harish Kumar and G Basavaraja passed the order while setting aside the judgment of a court in Dakshina Kannada issued on October 21, 2016, acquitting the accused. The State Government filed an appeal in the HC against the acquittal order. The court directed Dr Renuka Prasad, who owns many educational institutions in Sullia, to pay ₹10 lakh to the kin of Ramakrishna. It can be stated that primary evidence made available with regard to the case leads to the ultimate conclusion that the prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt. The approach of the trial court just appears to be perfunctory. It appears that the trial court judge has just noticed that the witnesses have turned hostile and he has not considered the evidence given by police officers and the FSL's report in the right perspective, the court observed.

It noted that it is a well-established principle that whenever witnesses turn hostile, the court must make all efforts to separate the chaff from the grain and examine as to what extent the evidence of the hostile witnesses can be acted upon. If all the witnesses turn hostile in entirety, the evidence of the investigating officer and other police personnel must be put to analysis or scrutiny. This will help find out whether from their evidence the accused can be held guilty. The casual approach leads to a miscarriage of justice, the court said.

Four held for conning woman on the pretext of arranging medical seat

BENGALURU: The High Grounds police have arrested four persons on charges of cheating a woman on the pretext of arranging a medical seat for her son and conning ₹10.80 lakh. The police have arrested Ashish Anand, Ashutosh, Shailendra, all three hailing from Bihar, and Nikhil Kumar of Uttarakhand. Police said Kala, a resident of Mysuru, was looking for a medical seat for her son who had not got NEET ranking. She got a message on her phone which stated that they would help in getting a medical seat. When the woman contacted the number mentioned in the message, a woman, who introduced herself as Roshini, claimed that they had been in the business for four years and promised to get a medical seat at a college in Davanagere and it would cost ₹60 lakh. "The woman also visited their office Edutacny Consultancy Services Pvt Ltd located on Cunningham Road where she met a few persons, including one, Yogesh, who claimed himself as secretary of the medical college in Davanagere. citing that they have to pay fees and other charges, the accused got ₹ 10,80,152 transferred to their bank accounts. When the woman tried to contact them again, they did not reply. She went to their office on September 27 but it was shut," the police said, adding that Rs. 8 lakh has been recovered from the accused.

3 HELD FOR STAGING KIDNAP TO EXTORT ₹2L

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A man and his two friends were arrested for staging a kidnap drama to extort Rs 2 lakh from a factory owner in RT Nagar police limits.

Mohammed Asif Habib, 40, who runs a metal factory in the city, received a call from his employee, Nurullah Khan, 25, who hails from Bihar, around 5 pm on September 27, saying he had been kidnapped by two men who were taking him to an unknown place in a cab. The accused said the kidnappers were asking for a ransom of Rs 2 lakh to release him. Khan had been working at the factory for the last seven years and was close to Habib.

An investigation was initiated after Habib filed a missing person's complaint with the RT Nagar police station the same day. The accused kept switching on and off his phone to prevent the police from pinpointing his location, the police said.

The accused (Khan) later called Habib and asked him to transfer the money to his bank account at the earliest. Suspecting something amiss, the police checked the CCTV footage of the area where Khan was supposed to have been kidnapped and found that he had entered the cab on his own.

The police detected Khan's location as Mandya after the call was made to Habib. With help of local police, the RT Nagar cops tracked Khan along with Abu Bakar and Ali Rizaq, both from Bihar, who posed as kidnappers in the case.

The police arrested all the three on Thursday. A case has been registered with RT Nagar police station under various provisions of IPC.

K'taka to give anti-rabies vaccination free of cost for all animal bite victims

AGENCIES

THE Karnataka Health Department has directed all government hospitals to provide Anti-Rabies Vaccine (ARV) and Rabies Immunoglobulin (RIG) free of cost as per requirement for all animal bite victims, irrespective of them having APL or BPL cards.

An official circular on Thursday by the Health and Family Welfare Services Commissioner said that although Rabies is a fatal disease, timely and appropriate treatment can save lives. "Elimination of dog-bite mediated rabies by 2030," is the mission of the National Rabies Control Program (NRCP). Rabies has been declared a "Notifiable Disease" in Karnataka from December 5, 2022.

Accordingly, ARV and RIG, the mainstay of treatment to prevent the fatal disease, have been made a part of the annual indent supply by Karnataka State Medical Supplies Corporation Ltd and sufficient stock has to be maintained in all government hospitals, it said.

"No animal bite victim shall be denied treatment irrespective of their possession of APL/BPL card. Therefore, it is hereby directed to provide ARV and RIG free of cost as per requirement for all animal bite victims.

The Medical Officers are instructed to judiciously use the RIG as per the NRCP recommendations," the circular added. According to a recent systematic estimation survey carried out by the BBMP, Bengaluru has a total of 2,79,335 stray dogs.

BJP-JDS ALLIANCE UNHOLY: SIDDU

Says state not facing dearth of funds for development projects

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chitradurga

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah on Friday termed the BJP-JDS alliance for the Lok Sabha elections unholy, saying, "Janata Dal (Secular) is forging an alliance with a communal party."

On the BJP fact-finding committee visiting Shivamogga's riot-hit areas, he said, "What was done to find out the truth? Action has been taken against those who threw stones while Muslims were taking out a procession on Eid-Milad day. Clear instructions have been given to take action against those involved, irrespective of which party they belong to and whoever they are. Authorities have been told not to let such elements take law into their hands," he said.

Siddaramaiah said there is no dearth of funds for taking up developmental activities in the state. Talking to reporters at Chitradurga, where he was attending a slew of programmes, he denied BJP's allegations that development works have taken a backseat. He clarified that there is no shortage of funds for programmes and five guarantees.

He alleged that it was BJP which ruined the state's financial condition during its three-and-a-half-year rule when the expenditure was not capped. When Congress was in power between 2013 and 2018, finances were managed effectively and the government never took too much loan.

On Congress MLAs' allegations that funds are not available for development works, he said regular grants are available, but not additional grants as the present budget is valid only for eight months. Everything will be set right from the next financial year, he added.

'GOVT WILL FUND R&D IN AGRICULTURE'

The government is committed to provide all assistance for research activities in the agriculture and horticulture sector to develop drought-resistant varieties that can withstand climate change, the chief minister said at the inauguration of the centenary celebrations of Regional Research Station, Babbur Farms, here. The chief minister said he is keen to give funds to research institutions rather than opening more colleges. Karnataka is facing an unprecedented drought and for the first time in 123 years, there was no rain in Augusts. "We are facing a heat wave and 210-215 taluks are facing a dry spell. Farmers have not been able to harvest any crop. We estimate the loss at Rs 30,000 crore. But as per central guidelines, we have requested Rs 4,860 crore from the Centre," he added. "We briefed the central inter-ministerial team that is visiting the state to assess drought damage. We requested them to be lenient towards farmers," he said.

BSY's state tour fails to get green signal from party biggies

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

FORMER chief minister BS Yediyurappa has been denied permission to tour the state so far, although he had formally proposed it to the party in early September. It may be recalled that Yediyurappa, a Parliamentary Board member of the BJP, had made a public announcement that he would go on a statewide tour. He proposed to visit all 30 districts and meet district and taluk leaders, and encourage them to fight the Lok Sabha polls due in about seven months.

Sources say there is an internal "undeclared cold war" in the BJP against Yediyurappa, and that he did not receive the green signal from the party higher-ups.

Diehard Yediyurappa supporters told TNIE, "Only if he goes out and campaigns can the BJP hope to do well and recapture the seats, especially after the drubbing in the assembly polls. What can he do if the party does not give him permission."

This is the third consecutive year that Yediyurappa has sought to go on a statewide tour but the party has asked him to wait. Asked about the tour, BJP State General Secretary Ravi Kumar said, "The party was busy with many things, Yediyurappa will go on a state tour soon."

Meanwhile, Yediyurappa's son B Y Vijayendra's name is doing the rounds for the top job as state president, and once he is elevated, Yediyurappa could start his tour, sources in the BJP said. But his elevation is being challenged by a group opposed to Yediyurappa, who are raising the issue of Vijayendra's connection with some corrupt persons. This was exposed during ED raids on Umesh, who was one of Yediyurappa's assistants. The group opposed to Yediyurappa is also trying to prop up his other son, Shivamogga MP BY Raghavendra, as state president because he is more pliant. However, Yediyurappa has indicated that he would be happy with Vijayendra getting the top job.

Party sources also suggested that once Vijayendra is elevated, it would be Yediyurappa's duty to deliver Karnataka to the BJP, like he did in 2019 when the party got a stunning 25 seats.

One can be a Hindu by rejecting caste: Tharoor

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

"HINDUISM does not assign the right to anybody to decide who is a good Hindu and who is not. We can all be Hindus according to our own lives. You may choose to have a different 'ista devata' (personal favourite deity) from me, or your family may have a different 'ista devata' from you. It doesn't matter because Hinduism gives you an eclectic range of choices," said Congress MP Shashi Tharoor.

He was in the city to launch the Kannada version of his English book "Why I am A Hindu?" translated by Prof Radha Krishna, here on Friday. Replying to questions - 'Who is a good Hindu and who is not' and 'Accepting Hinduism is accepting inequality according to Dr Ambedkar', he said, "So for those who question, you are not a good Hindu, you can reply that you are very well a Hindu and the social practices that you follow are your choice and I choose what practices I should follow."

Sharing an episode involving Adi Shankara, he said, "Adi Shankara was marching with his devotees and a Chandala (Dalit), who was coming in the opposite direction, was asked to move by the devotees. He refused to move and questioned Adi Shankara what is that your people want me to move - 'my body' or 'my atma' (soul)? My atma is the same as yours and Adi Shankara fell at the feet of Chandala and said you have understood the essence of my teachings better than my own devotees."

He said, "Hindu social practices were always a matter of contention. There was a caste system. There were as many who rejected caste as against those who upheld it. Social practices of Hinduism are man-made and I am happy to support Dr Ambedkar in calling for the end of untouchability and for avoiding using caste as a marker for anything except for social construct," Tharoor said. "If one believes in all these, he can be a Hindu by rejecting caste."

Those who read Swami Vivekananda properly will not subscribe to the misappropriation of his teachings by the Hinduvta Abhiyan. Vivekananda was the biggest critic of Hindutva. His form of Hinduism is something that certainly could be a beacon for all of us, he said. Currently, Vivekananda is sort of being kidnapped by people who distort his meanings to give different colouration, he added.

Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister HK Patil said hatred is spread in the name of caste and religion and problems are created using Hinduism that are not needed.

Veerashaiva-Lingayat meet in D'gere in Dec

@ Davanagere

AKHIL Bharata Veerashaiva-Lingayat Mahasabha secretary Eshwar Khandre on Friday said that the 24th national convention of the mahasabha will be held in Davanagere on December 23 and 24.

Addressing a press conference here, Khandre said the event will be held on the MBA College Grounds of Bapuji Educational Association. He said the convention, which in the past was held once every 5 years, had to be deferred to early 2023 owing to the Covid-19 pandemic. However, it was postponed once again owing to the Karnataka Assembly elections.

The executive committee of the mahasabha met in Davanagere under the leadership of senior Congress MLA and mahasabha president Shamanur Shivashankarappa, to discuss the modalities of the programme. Shivashankarappa said that the convention is to create oneness among the Veerashiva-Lingayats.

When asked if he met Chief Minister Siddaramaiah after raising the issue of Lingayats officers getting a raw deal in the government, Shamanur said, "Go and ask him (Siddaramaiah)".

Somashekar a thorn in BJP's flesh, party looks at BSY for action

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

FORMER minister and Yeshwantpur MLA ST Somashekar has become a thorn in the flesh for the BJP after he openly opposed the saffron party's alliance with the JDS for the upcoming Lok Sabha elections.

Now, the BJP state disciplinary committee has put the onus on former chief minister BS Yediyurappa to convince and instruct Somashekar to not damage the party's image anymore. Somashekar was among the 17 opposition MLAs who joined the BJP and helped Yediyurappa form the government in 2018.

According to informed sources, Somashekar won the bypolls and proved his mettle as a mass leader and hence the BJP was hesitant to take stringent action against him despite him going against the party high command's decision. Since, the MLA now is hinting at joining the Congress by holding parleys with Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and DyCM DK Shivakumar, state BJP leaders have started attacking him albeit indirectly.

"We must follow the party high command's decision and Somashekar is no exception. Otherwise, let him quit and join the party in which he will be happy," former minister and senior BJP leader KS Eshwarappa said.

Another senior leader C T Ravi criticised Somashekar for always changing his loyalties.

But former DyCM Dr CN Ashwath Narayan said Somashekar took the liberty of questioning the top brass' decision on the alliance which is an anti-party activity. But some of the leaders within the party expected that Somashekar would quit the party on his own by resigning as MLA.

79-YEAR-OLD CONTRACTOR DIES BY SUICIDE IN HASSAN

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Hassan

A civil contractor allegedly died by suicide by jumping into the Hemavathi river near Holenarasipur on Friday.

According to Hassan Superintendent of Police Mohamed Sujeeta, the 79-year-old K Sattar took the extreme step over personal and health issues. He had undergone an open heart surgery and both knee replacements. The Holenarasipur police registered a missing person case following a complaint filed by one of his sons. The body of Sattar is yet to be fished out, though expert swimmers have been roped in for the task, the SP added.

Sattar was a first-class contractor with the PWD some 10 years ago.

It is also said that Sattar had reportedly given Rs 80 lakh as loan to one Suresh from Mysuru and the loan amount was not repaid.

Sattar walking on the bridge and jumping into the river was recorded on a CCTV camera, and the footage was also recovered by the police. Sattar is survived by his wife and three children. A team led by Holenarasipur DySP Ashok is investigating the financial commitments of Sattar.

CONGRESS MLC Prakash K Rathod said he was pained by senior Congress leader and former minister Shamnur Shivashankarappa's remarks that officers from the Lingayat community are not considered for prominent posts in the government.

"Such a statement has pained people from minority communities, Dalits, and Backward Classes who played an important role in bringing Congress to power in the state by voting for the party," Rathod said.

The Congress MLC said according to a survey, 88% of Muslims voted for the Congress and compared to that only 20% of Lingayats supported the party in the Assembly elections. Despite that, seven ministers in the Siddaramaiah cabinet are from the Lingayat community and only two are Muslims.

"Over 80% of the Lambani community voted for the party and played an important role in the victory of the party candidates in many assembly constituencies. But none from the Lambani community, Uppara, Yadav, or Balajiga are made ministers. In a disciplined manner, the leaders of those communities have appealed to the Chief Minister, KPCC president, and AICC leaders," he stated.

The Congress leader also said Chief Minister Siddaramaiah is taking people from all communities together and providing a good administration. Everyone, including the legislators and the party leaders, should support the chief minister, he added.

@Mysuru

WITH the Union Government giving its nod for the Dasara air show in Mysuru, Indian Air Force (IAF) officials, along with the Mysuru Deputy Commissioner, inspected the Bannimantap stadium — the proposed venue for the air show.

The Dasara airshow, which will be held after three years following the Covid-19 pandemic, is likely to attract a huge crowd. Mysuru DC KV Rajendra, Group Captain DK Ojha and others visited the stadium which can accommodate approximately 30,000 people. The date of the event is yet to be announced.

It is said Chief Minister Siddaramaiah had made a request in this regard to Defence Minister Rajnath Singh during his recent visit to New Delhi.

Although the Jamboo Savari showcasing the art and culture of Karnataka is the main attraction, the illumination during the festival, air show, flower show, cultural programmes and Yuva Dasara are some of the other major crowd-pullers.

The Mi-17 chopper of the Indian Air Force showering petals followed by the sky diving team of the IAF Akash Ganga carrying the National Flag in group and solo events left the audience spellbound all these years.

DKS in TS for a month to oversee poll campaign

Revanth Reddy invited K'taka Dy CM to T'gana, news sets off buzz in political circles

IREDDY SRINIVAS REDDY
@Hyderabad

TO ensure the victory of the Congress in the upcoming Assembly elections, Karnataka Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar will spend nearly a month in Hyderabad to oversee election management and strategic planning.

Well-placed sources in the Congress said that Shivakumar will take control of the party's election management process and chart the course for victory in the forthcoming elections.

According to sources, TPCC president A Revanth Reddy recently invited Shivakumar to campaign for the party in Telangana. Responding to this, Shivakumar asked Revanth to arrange accommodation in Hyderabad for an extended stay, the sources said.

The news has set off a buzz in political circles as it is of significance not only for the Congress but also for other political parties in Telangana.

Shivakumar had played a key role in Revanth Reddy's appointment as TPCC president and is known to have negotiated with YSRTP president YS Sharmila regarding the merger of her party into the Congress. While the merger is yet to be formalised, the fact remains that Shivakumar has been the key behind the talks. Known for his unwavering loyalty to the Gandhi family and his involvement in critical party matters, Shivakumar's focus is now firmly on Telangana. His reputation as a leader with a strong presence in Karnataka and his successful election management, has piqued interest within Telangana's political circles.

Karnataka Deputy Chief Minister D K Shivakumar

His visit is expected to coincide with the election notification. He will convene meetings with key Congress leaders to discuss the handling of booth-level committees and the implementation of Karnataka's election strategy in Telangana.

Koppal arati incident: Three cops suspended

AMIT S UPADHYE @Koppal

THREE police officers have been placed under suspension over the arati waving incident which was reported from Gangavati town during a Ganesha immersion procession. The incident was reported on the last day of the festival on October 1 when the procession was passing by the Jamia mosque in Gangavati town. Some youth, who were part of the Ganesha procession, allegedly waved arati at the mosque, burst crackers and raised slogans.

The police have already booked cases against five persons who were part of the procession. However, no arrests have been made so far in the case.

On Friday, Koppal SP ordered the suspension of Inspector Adiveppa Gudigoppa, Sub-inspector Kamanna and Constable Mariyappa on charges of dereliction of duty.

According to the police, the arati waving incident could have triggered tension between members of the two communities. The police on the ground should not have allowed the procession to be stopped in front of the mosque. After a subsequent inquiry into the incident, the police said that arati was not waved at the mosque, but at a temple which is located in the same line as the prayer site.

"There was a similar incident reported in front of Jamia mosque, two days after the arati waving incident. Few youth who were part of the Ganesha procession tried to draw images of religious rituals (mandala) in front of the mosque. The group was swiftly moved from the mosque," said a senior police official from Koppal.

Search on for missing fishermen

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kochi

Around 50 fishing boats, two Indian Coast Guard vessels, three boats of the fisheries department, a Dornier aircraft and a helicopter scoured the coastal sea for more than 15 hours on Friday, in search of the four fishermen who went missing in the sea on Thursday evening. However, the efforts went in vain and the search operation was called off due to low visibility on Friday night. The Coast Guard and fisheries enforcement wing said the search will continue on Saturday.

The fibre boat 'Nanma' was returning to the Munambam harbour with the catch collected from 'Samrudhi', a large inboard fishing vessel, when it sunk due to overloading off Kochi coast at 4.30pm on Thursday. However, the incident went unnoticed as there was no other fishing boat in the vicinity.

The missing fishermen are Shaji 53, Mohanan, 53, and Sarath, 24, of Malippuram Chappa coastal hamlet, and Yesudas alias Raju, 56, of Pallithodu in Alappuzha.

"There were seven fishermen -- five from Chapra fishing hamlet at Malippuram in Ernakulam and two from Alappuzha – on the boat when the incident occurred. Three of them, who stayed afloat by holding on to large plastic containers, were saved by a fishing boat, St Jude, by around 8.30pm. The coastal police rushed to the area after being alerted by the workers of the fishing boat. But we couldn't find the other four," said fisheries assistant director P Aneesh.

Maniyan and Baiju of Malipuram Chappa colony and Anandan of Andhakaranazhi coastal hamlet in Alappuzha were the rescued fishermen.

Kerala HC flays jail authorities for separation of political prisoners

P RAMDAS @Kochi

COMING down heavily on jail authorities over mishandling of inmates, the Kerala High Court has asked how those in charge of the Central Prison, Kannur, could house prisoners in different blocks based on their political allegiance.

There is no place for factionalism among detainees. Like prison officers, prisoners also shall not indulge in any political activity inside the four walls of prisons, said the court.

The division bench made the observation while confirming the sentence of six-month rigorous imprisonment awarded by the Thalassery Sessions court to three BJP activists - Phalgunan, Dinesan, and Ashokan - in a case relating to the murder of their co-prisoner and CPM worker Raveendran in 2004. The court acquitted four other BJP activists.

The court, however, upheld the life term awarded to the first accused Pavithran and the seventh accused Anilkumar who died during the pendency of the appeal against the conviction.

The court observed, "We fail to understand how the authorities of the Central Prison, Kannur could house prisoners in different blocks based on their political allegiance. That, in fact, leads to incidents like the instant one."

However, a retired head of prisons in Kerala told TNIE that political prisoners are lodged in separate blocks in jail so as to avoid clashes between them. This was the system in place for the last several years," the retired officer said. "This was implemented following frequent murders reported in central prisons in the state. Following murder incidents in Thiruvananthapuram and Thrissur in 1994, the prison officials reached a mutual understanding to lodge political prisoners separately to avoid such untoward incidents," the officer explained.

Considering the safety of the prisoners this is a comparatively better way, the officer said. "The shortage of jail staff is also a reason to lodge political prisoners separately. The jails in the state are short-staffed and crowded. The planned staff strength was 1:6. But this is not possible at present as there are large numbers of prisoners in jails in the state," he said.

Passers-by immediately called '108' ambulance and shifted Shah to People Tree Hospitals at Yeshwanthpur. The hospital reported the matter to the RMC Yard police, who then transferred the case to the jurisdictional Subramanyanagar police.

A search is on for the driver.

Hospital sources informed TNIE that Shah revealed his identity only after regaining partial consciousness on Thursday evening.

"The case is being investigated, and we are checking the CCTV footage. We are yet to record the victim's statements. We are checking with the cab aggregators also," said an investigating officer.

Dr S Jothi Neeraja, managing director and CEO, People Tree Hospitals, told that, the victim had traumatic brain and spinal injury and both sides of the ribs were fractured. He is stable and in the ICU, she said.

Man arrested for forging documents

Mangaluru: A person who used to forge government documents like Aadhaar, PAN, and Voter IDs to avail government schemes and loans, has been arrested by Mangaluru city police. The accused, Bernard Roshan Mascarenhas, 41, is a resident of Bajjodi Bikarnakatte, Mangaluru. The city police commissioner Anupam Agarwal said that the accused ran a firm named 'Helpline Mangaluru' and has been creating fake documents for the last 3 years. He used rural services kendra website to download ration card data which he had used earlier during Aadhar verification, and used PDF editor to edit Aadhaar details," said commissioner. "We got a tip-off, that a shop was charging Rs 500 to Rs 20,000 to make fake documents, and conducted a raid on Friday. He has created fake Aadhar, ration cards, marks cards, trade licence, birth certificate, etc and sold it. Several people who got fake documents from the accused have availed loans in various banks and also used it to avail various government schemes. The police have seized laptops, color printers, biometric devices etc., from the accused and a case has been registered with CEN police station. The accused has been booked under sections 465 (Forgery), 468 (Forgery for purpose of cheating), 471 (Using a forged document or an electronic record as a genuine one) and 420 (Cheating and dishonestly inducing delivery of property) of the Indian Penal Code.

KHUSHBU DEMANDS APOLOGY FOR DEROGATORY REMARKS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Vijayawada

TAKING exception to the recent comments of former minister and TDP leader Bandaru Satyanarayana Murthy against minister RK Roja, actor and BJP leader from Tamil Nadu, Khushbu Sundar on Friday sought an unconditional apology from the senior leader. Though none of the State BJP leaders have reacted to the comments of Bandaru, Khushbu condemned the foul language used by the TDP leader.

In a video released on Friday, Khushbu strongly condemned the words used against Roja by Bandaru.

Khushbu said that Bandaru's comments show how he failed not only as a man, but as a human. "He has failed the people of his constituency, and the woman who raised him. No man who respects a woman will ever speak in such a deplorant manner," she deplored.

"In our country, when Nari Shakti Vandan Adhiniyam Act, which has been brought in a women reservation Act, has been brought in, and we are talking about women empowerment, and breaking glass ceilings, we have people like you who think its your birthright to malign a woman using such a foul language. You should be ashamed of yourself And I stand with Roja, and I will fight for her till you do not issue an apology," she demanded.

Odisha govt seeks more mobile towers for development of Naxal-hit regions

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bhubaneswar

IN a bid to bolster development in Naxal-hit regions of Odisha, the state government on Friday urged the Centre to fast track installation of mobile towers under various connectivity schemes in areas affected by left wing extremism (LWE).

At a national level meeting on LWE chaired by Union Home Minister Amit Shah in New Delhi, Odisha Finance Minister Bikram Keshari Arukha requested the Centre to provide a dedicated helicopter to the state, for movement of troops, maintenance of forward posts and respond to exigencies arising out of Naxal related conflicts.

Shah expressed satisfaction over the measures taken by Odisha government to curb Naxal menace. He assured all assistance will be provided to the state and the Centre will take measures to completely wipe out LWE menace from the country, in the coming year.

"LWE is a grave internal security challenge for the nation. Under the leadership of Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik, Odisha has achieved significant success in combating the menace. Well calibrated security response backed by focused developmental interventions and people-centric policies have brought about remarkable transformation in the situation," said Arukha during the meeting.

The areas which were once under the influence of CPI (Maoist) have shrunk from 21 districts to limited pockets of 10 districts. Intensity of violence has declined, and recruitment of local cadres has dwindled. The areas where extremism has been eliminated have witnessed significant transformation, he said.

Odisha government pointed out Swabhiman Anchal of Malkangiri district, which was a bastion of Maoists for decades, has been brought under complete control of security forces. The area has been integrated as socio-economic-political mainstream by remarkable progress.

RBI ACTS TOUGH ON INFLATION, BUT PLANS FOR THE WORST

THE RBI on Friday kept the repo rate unchanged at 6.5 percent, citing resilient growth and softening inflation. But in central banking, what matters most is what is left unsaid. The topmost concern remains price rise. While the Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) noted the softening in vegetable and other prices, its hawkish tone also confirmed upside risks to inflation in the same breath. One is not really sure if inflation is coming in or going out. The MPC revised the second-quarter inflation estimates upwards to 6.4 percent from 6.2 percent in July and August. But inflation is expected to soften to 5 percent or thereabouts in September. What is unclear is whether this translates to a durable decline in prices. Unhelpfully, the MPC gave out no answers. Rather, RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das warned against global and domestic food and energy price shocks in the coming months. Yet, the third-quarter estimates are revised down by 10 basis points to 5.6 percent.

The silver lining came from the 140-basis-point decline in the core inflation (ex food and fuel) since its January peak, and the indication that it may go down further. Perhaps this reduction will offset any unforeseen rise in food and retail prices. That brings us to the RBI's 4 percent inflation target, which Das emphasised was the sole mandate, and that the MPC would not be content to simply stay within the 2-6 percent tolerance band. Though the bulls-eye approach to price stability is convincing, what is unsettling is that it would need more than a year to reach the goal. The inflation forecast for 2023-24 remains unchanged at 5.4 percent, a neat 140 basis points away from the target. The projection for even the first quarter of 2024-25 is set at 5.2 percent, which confirms that higher rates are here to stay.

With rate hikes to tame inflation consigned as an understudy, the RBI is placing its bets on liquidity management to conduct its monetary policy actions and guide the headline inflation towards the target. The central bank took bond markets by surprise when it kept the door open for bond sales to absorb the surplus liquidity that could stoke inflationary pressures. There is no explicit timeline for bond sales yet, but the very mention jolted bond traders. The benchmark 10-year yield jumped over 10 basis points, though some simply view it as an yield-adjusting tool to align with rising global bond yields. Regardless, the RBI must spell out the reason behind its move for clarity.

KRISHNA DISPUTE NEEDS AN EMPATHETIC VERDICT

IF history is anything to go by, river water disputes are almost impossible to resolve in our country. Each state has compelling reasons to not give a litre—whether it is Tamil Nadu, Karnataka, Kerala, Andhra Pradesh or Telangana. The issue of Krishna water distribution between Telangana and Andhra Pradesh is one such difficult case to resolve. It has been hanging fire since 2014 when the state of Telangana was carved out of the combined Andhra Pradesh. The Union Cabinet, after nine long years, has finally decided to refer the matter to the existing Brijesh Kumar tribunal to re-evaluate the share of each state.

It is indeed a victory of sorts for Telangana, as it has been the one demanding a fresh look at the matter. It has every reason to press for it. Under the Bachawat tribunal award, the then combined Andhra Pradesh secured 811 thousand million cubic feet (tmcft) of assured Krishna water. Of this, project-wise, the Telangana region received 299 tmcft and Andhra 512 tmcft. The Brijesh Kumar tribunal, which was formed in 2004 under Section 3 of the Interstate River Water Disputes Act 1956, more or less upheld the Bachawat award in 2013. But then, the riparian states of Andhra Pradesh, Maharashtra and Karnataka challenged its verdict in the Supreme Court. It has been in limbo since then. After the formation of Telangana, naturally, the new state sought more than the 299 tmcft approved for it under the Bachawat award because the catchment area and population in the Krishna river basin are higher compared to those in Andhra. On the other hand, Andhra is dead against a relook as it has to divert water for the parched Rayalaseema region.

The Centre's move has raised suspicions that it has done so in view of the fast approaching Telangana elections. We hope that is not the case. One is yet to see the new terms of reference for the Brijesh Kumar tribunal. If it is not to drag the dispute for years, there must be a strict time-frame for the tribunal's verdict. Both states must also understand that it is finally about the people and, hence, ought to empathise with each other's compulsions. Otherwise the dispute will remain forever like a festering wound with one refusing to accept the final award. An amicable solution that gives no reason for either party to move the court is needed. The history is not encouraging, but hope the future will be different.

QUICK TAKE

KEEP AN EYE ON GLACIAL LAKES

THE Central Water Commission uses satellite images to monitor hundreds of glacial lakes up in the Himalayas. It tells us that more than two-hundred such lakes had grown in size in the decade to 2019. A more recent update says thirty-nine of them have grown two-fifths or more in area; they threaten nine Indian states and territories. The excess water that the terrain cannot hold usually seeps down as glacial streams. Trouble occurs when a landslide or a cloudburst makes the lake unstable, creating sudden floods of the sort we have seen in Himachal Pradesh and Sikkim this year. Those thirty-nine lakes need constant, not itinerant, monitoring.

The Father of the Indian Green Revolution guided our nation towards self-sufficiency and self-confidence. He did everything with the farmer at heart—as a true Kisan Vaigyanik

M S SWAMINATHAN WAS A TRUE FARMERS' SCIENTIST

NARENDRA MODI
Prime Minister of India

A few days ago we lost Professor M S Swaminathan. Our nation lost a visionary who revolutionised agricultural science, a stalwart whose contribution to India will always be etched in golden letters. Professor Swaminathan loved India and wanted our nation—and our farmers, in particular—to lead a life of prosperity. Academically brilliant, he could have chosen any career but he was so impacted by the Bengal famine of 1943 that he was clear that, if there was one thing he would do, it would be to study agriculture.

At a relatively young age, he came in contact with Dr Norman Borlaug and followed his work in great detail. In the 1950s, he was offered a faculty position in the US but he rejected it because he wanted to work in India and for India.

I want you all to think about the challenging circumstances in which he stood as a colossus, guiding our nation towards the path of self-sufficiency and self-confidence. In the first two decades after Independence, we were dealing with immense challenges—one of them was food shortages. In the early 1960s, India was grappling with the ominous shadows of famine and it was then that Professor Swaminathan's unyielding commitment and foresight ushered a new era of agricultural prosperity. His pioneering work in agriculture and specific sectors like wheat breeding led to a significant increase in production, turning India from a food-deficient country into a self-sufficient nation. This tremendous achievement earned him the well deserved title of the 'Father of the Indian Green Revolution'.

The Green Revolution offered a glimpse of India's 'Can do spirit'—that if we have a billion challenges, we also have a billion minds with the flame of innovation to overcome those challenges. Five decades after the Green Revolution began, Indian agriculture has become far more modern and progressive. But the very foundations laid by Professor Swaminathan can never be forgotten.

Over the years, he undertook pioneering research in combating parasites affecting the potato crop. His research also enabled potato crops to withstand cold weather. Today, the world is talking about millets or 'Shree Anna' as superfoods, but Professor Swaminathan had encouraged a discourse around millets since the 1990s.

My personal interactions with Professor Swaminathan were extensive. They began after I took over as Chief Minister of Gujarat in 2001. During those days, Gujarat was not known for its agricultural prowess. Successive droughts, a super cyclone and an earthquake had impacted the growth trajectory of the state. Among the many initiatives we launched was the Soil Health Card, which enabled us to understand the soil better and address problems if they arose. It was in the context of this scheme that I met Professor Swaminathan. He appreciated the scheme and also shared his valuable inputs for it. His endorsement was enough to convince those who were sceptical about the scheme which would eventually set the stage for Gujarat's agricultural success.

SOUMYADIP SINHA

Our interactions continued during my chief ministerial tenure and also when I took over as Prime Minister. I met him at the International Agrobiodiversity Congress in 2016 and the next year, in 2017, I launched a two-part book series written by him.

The Kural describes farmers as the pin that holds the world together, because it is the farmers who sustain everyone. Professor Swaminathan understood this principle very well. A lot of people call him a "Krishi Vaigyanik"—an Agricultural Scientist. But I have always believed that he was even more. He was a true "Kisan Vaigyanik"—a Farmers' Scientist. In his heart there was a farmer. The success of his works is not restricted to their academic excellence; it lies in the impact they have had outside the laboratories, in the farms and the fields. His work narrowed the gap between scientific knowledge and its practical application. He consistently advocated for sustainable agriculture, emphasising the delicate balance between human advancement and ecological sustainability. Here, I must also note Professor Swaminathan's special emphasis on improving the lives of small farmers and ensuring they also enjoy the fruits of innovation. He was particularly passionate about improving the lives of women farmers.

There is another aspect about Professor Swaminathan which is remarkable—he stands tall as a paragon of innovation and mentorship. When he won the World Food Prize in 1987, the first recipient of this prestigious honour, he used the prize money to establish a not-for-profit research foundation. Till date, it undertakes extensive work across various sectors. He has nurtured countless minds, instilling in them a passion for learning and innovation. In a rapidly changing world, his life reminds us of the enduring power of knowledge, mentorship, and innovation. He was an institution builder as well, having to his credit many centres where vibrant research takes place. One of his stints was as Director, International Rice Research Institute, Manila. The South Asia Regional Centre of the International Rice Research Institute was opened in Varanasi in 2018.

I will again cite the Kural to pay tributes to Dr Swaminathan. It is written there, "If those who have planned have firmness, they will attain what they have desired the way they have desired." Here was a stalwart who decided early on in his life that he wanted to strengthen agriculture and serve farmers. And, he did it exceptionally innovatively and passionately. Dr Swaminathan's contributions continue to inspire and guide us as we navigate the path of agricultural innovation and sustainability. We must also keep reaffirming our commitment to the principles he held dear—championing the cause of farmers and ensuring that the fruits of scientific innovation reach the roots of our agricultural expanse, fostering growth, sustainability, and prosperity for generations to come.

ALL ROADS LEAD TO ROME AS LEADERS SEARCH FOR HISTORY

SPEAKEASY

THERE'S this Rome question—or is it a poll?—on the internet that's gone a little too far. It asks men (why not women?) how often they think about ancient Rome. In the West, it's a lot because they see Rome's shadow everywhere, from philosophy to public health. Stoicism is big now, for instance, as the world turns hostile. Among the Stoics, there is no one easier on the nerves than the Roman emperor Marcus Aurelius (121-180 CE). In health, as Covid becomes endemic, the world is just emerging from the greatest plague in a century. The first in recorded history was the Plague of Justinian (started 541 CE), which is believed to have been bubonic.

So, Rome touches all, but this thing on the internet has gone too far. A recent tweet (sorry, an X-text) by Elon Musk said: "I sometimes wonder if Rome was started by exiles from Troy. It's not completely out of the question. At some point in antiquity, a few ships of very competent soldiers (with almost no women) landed on the coast of Italy. Where did they come from?"

Thousands of people know the answer to that question. Many more would have known, perhaps even Musk himself, if the world's campuses hadn't gone all commercial and slashed funding to liberal arts programmes. The answer dates back to 29-19 BC, when Virgil, who was to ancient Italy what Camoes was later to Portugal in the Age of Exploration, wrote the Aeneid. The classic foundational tale traces the journey of Aeneas to Italy after the fall of Troy, to found Rome and invest it with the civilisational values of classical Greece. It was very well-written propaganda providing a sound pedigree for Roman civilisation.

Virgil's rewrite of history was not deterred by the fact that perfectly good civilisations pre-existed the Romans in Italy. Apart from the Latins, the Etruscans had left behind signs of a flourishing culture in cities like Volterra, which has city gates that visibly predate Roman fortifications, and caves and catacombs filled with urns containing the ashes of the dead. The urns were made in the image of their owners, and the sculptures reveal a civilisation far more cosmopolitan than the Romans who would succeed them.

Virgil gathered together references to Aeneas scattered across the popular culture and literature of his time and created a figure who could serve as a legitimate conduit of Greek values to Roman culture. The Romans had an older founding story, of Romulus and Remus, the twins who make one recall the origin stories of Moses, Krishna and, just for variety, Mowgli. It was a free-standing story until Virgil recruited the twins to the bloodline of Aeneas.

WIKIMEDIA

Virgil gathered older stories to write a grand creation myth for the Roman civilisation in the first century CE. We can learn much from this urge to join earlier dots

In the ninth century, another alleged descendant of Aeneas was recruited for duty in the British Isles. Nennius was the first to write of Aeneas' grandson Brutus, who gave his name and his bloodline to Britain, but that was in a footnote. Brutus appears in his full majesty in the opening pages of Geoffrey of Monmouth's History of the Kings of Britain, which is dated to the 12th century. So, having served as the civilisational basis for the Roman empire, the line of Aeneas was coaxed into providing substantial antecedents to Britain which, in 400 years, would develop imperial ambitions.

Now, to return to that question travelling the internet: why is everyone thinking about the Roman empire in 2023? Because the US elections are due in 2024 and Donald Trump's voters fear that if he doesn't make the cut, civilisation as they know it will cease to exist. The Roman empire is being referenced because as far as they know, it lasted for 250 years, which they believe to be the outer limit for the life expectancy of empires. The US, in their opinion, is an empire that's 247 years old, uncomfortably close to its use-by date.

Of course, empires don't just crumple up at 250. The Portuguese empire launched by Prince Henry the Navigator lasted almost six centuries until 1999, when it relinquished Macau to China. The Ottoman empire lasted about 50 years longer, and the Khmer empire may have lasted even longer, though little is known about it. Moreover, the US is not acting very imperially at present. It has withdrawn its forces from occupation in Asia. It is more or less blase about India slipping under the wire of the Ukraine sanctions to buy Russian oil in vast quantities. It wants to use India as a cat's paw against Chinese territoriality in the Asian seas, but seems to have no interest in helping India resolve its problem with China in the Himalayas. Presumably, many American voters want a champion who's quicker on the draw, who will make the world a livelier place, just like in the movies.

Unlike Britain and Rome, America does not have a canonical creation myth. Instead, it has a multimillion dollar creation story—the Western, which promotes ideas of national competence and confidence as effectively as a fake Aeneas genealogy. Next year, part of its population will be in search of a John Wayne-like person who can incarnate those ideas. Here at home, too, the opening of the Ram Temple in Ayodhya in January, just before elections are likely to be announced, reflects a similar quest for a maryada purushottam. In the US, Donald Trump is caught up, Laocoön-like, in a web of litigation. But in India, the story of Ram Rajya could fly yet again. But what's really interesting is that the world's most important democracies don't need Trojan blood to justify their existence.

Govt plans to set up 195 new CAPF camps to bolster security in states hit by extremism

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah said on Friday that Left-Wing Extremism (LWE) is a menace to humanity, and the government is resolute in eradicating it from the country in the next two years. During a security situation review of LWE-affected states, Shah underscored that, under Prime Minister Modi's leadership, the Central government has made substantial strides in curtailing LWE.

Leading the high-level meeting with National Security Advisor Ajit Doval, chief ministers, deputy chief ministers of various Naxal-affected states, and security agency officials, Shah reported that the country has witnessed the lowest number of violent incidents and deaths in Naxal-affected areas in four decades. Pre-meeting reports indicated a 77% reduction in violent incidents in 2022 compared to the peak in 2010. Shah revealed plans to establish 195 new Central Armed Police Forces (CAPF) camps and 44 additional camps to bolster security coverage in Naxal-affected states since 2019.

Home Minister Amit Shah reviews security situation in LWE-affected states | EXPRESS

Shah emphasized the need for constant surveillance in areas liberated from left-wing extremism to prevent its resurgence. He noted a 69 per cent decline in deaths of security forces and 68 per cent decrease in civilian deaths from 2014 to 2023, compared to the period from 2005 to 2024. He urged LWE-affected states to collaborate by forming joint teams of civil and police officials to investigate financial support for left-wing extremism.

Highlighting the government's efforts, Shah mentioned that the ex-gratia amount for LWE victims increased from ₹5 lakh to ₹20 lakh in 2017 and has now risen to ₹40 lakh. He also shared that over 14,000 projects have been launched under the Special Central Assistance scheme in districts affected by LWE, with 80 per cent completed. The Centre allocated ₹3,296 crore to LWE states under this scheme, with ₹992 crore allocated for fortified police station construction, intelligence network strengthening, and special forces in LWE-affected areas.

The meeting also discussed the 'National Policy and Action Plan to address LWE,' approved in 2015, which includes a multi-faceted strategy involving security measures, development initiatives, and protection of local communities' rights.

According to home ministry data, there were 17,679 LWE-related incidents and 6,984 deaths between 2004 and 2014.

'Surveillance must'

Amit Shah on Friday emphasized the need for constant surveillance in areas liberated from left-wing extremism to prevent its resurgence. He noted a 69 per cent decline in deaths of security forces and 68 per cent decrease in civilian deaths during 2014-23, compared to 2005-24. He urged LWE-affected states to collaborate by forming joint teams of civil and police officials to probe financial support for naxals.

Bihar caste survey: No stay on publication of more data

JAISON WILSON @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday declined to put a stay on further publication on data related to caste survey by the Bihar government, saying it cannot stop any government from taking a policy decision.

Asserting that the top court is not staying "anything" at the moment, a bench of Justices Sanjiv Khanna and SVN Bhatti adjourned a batch of pleas against the Bihar government for January next year.

The top court also issued a formal notice on petitions against the August 1 order of the Patna High Court that allowed the state government to go ahead with the caste survey. "We are not staying anything at this moment. We cannot stop the state government or any government from taking a policy decision. That would be wrong... We are going to examine the other issue, regarding the power of the state government to conduct this exercise," the top court said.

The petitioners had approached the top court seeking a complete stay on further publication of data. The bench also rejected their submission that the state government has already published some data pre-empting a stay.

During the hearing, senior advocate Aprajita Singh, representing the petitioners, argued that there is breach of privacy in the matter and the High Court order is "wrong".

However, the bench said that since the name and other identities of no individual have been published, the argument that there was a breach of privacy may not be correct. "The important issue for consideration of the court is breakdown of data and its availability to the public," it said.

Setting in motion the much-talked-about 'caste census' (actually a survey) in Bihar on October 2, the Nitish Kumar government had released the caste data months ahead of the 2024 parliamentary elections.

It involved door-to-door surveys and covered 12.70 crore people divided among 204 castes across 38 districts of the state.

The exercise was carried out in two phases — the first from January to April involving the counting of the households and the second from April to May 31, where information on the caste, skill, income and religion of the individuals were collected. The whole excercise was carried out at an estimated cost of about ₹500 crore.

The survey report will be made public in June.

The data revealed that OBCs and EBCs constitute a whopping 63 per cent of the state's total population, with Extremely Backward Classes at 36 per cent and Other Backward Classes at 27.13 per cent.

SC observations

- Court cannot stop a government from taking policy decisions
- Top court will examine if the state government has power to conduct this exercise
- Since the name and other identities of no individual have been published, the argument that there was a breach of privacy may not be correct

Linking delimitation with quota is like comparing apples to oranges: Cong

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

A DAY after Prime Minister Modi invoked the 'delimitation' issue, linking it with Rahul Gandhi's campaign on reservation, the Congress said the statement exposed the PM's double standard on the issue.

At a recent election rally in Telangana, Modi demanded that the Congress clarify whether rights can be given in proportion to the population, and asserted that poor people have the first right over the country's resources. Referring to the delimitation exercise due in 2026, Modi said that the southern states are set to lose 100 seats and Congress' slogan will hurt the south.

"In the next delimitation, the number of Lok Sabha seats will be decided on the basis of population. If the population is less, the number of Lok Sabha seats will go down. As the southern states have achieved their target in population control, they will lose out heavily if the Congress' new slogan of rights in proportion to population is implemented," he said.

Speaking to this newspaper, Congress MP Manickam Tagore said that linking delimitation with reservation for OBCs is like comparing apples to oranges. "This is the usual Modi style to confuse facts. The PM is expert on this. Gandhi raised the issue of reservation in jobs for OBCs. Modi doesn't want to address the issue of OBC reservation and he doesn't want to increase the share," said Tagore.

Several opposition leaders from southern states have expressed concerns over the 2026 delimitation exercise as they are bound to lose representation in Lok Sabha. The Congress Working Committee that is meeting on October 9 may discuss the delimitation issue.

> This is the usual Modi style to confuse facts. The PM is expert on this. Gandhi raised the issue of reservation in jobs for OBCs
> Manickam Tagore, Congress leader

After the Bihar caste survey was released last week, the Opposition and some NDA allies have been pushing for a caste census across the country.

Congress MP Rahul Gandhi has been consistently raising the slogan "Jitni aabadi, utna haq", during his campaigns in the five poll-bound states. The Congress leader asserted that the PM's remarks would not hurt the Congress in the upcoming elections. "Southern states are far ahead in terms of literacy than other states in India. They understand that Gandhi has spoken about delimitation and not about reservation," Tagore said, adding the PM's assertions are devoid of logic and facts.

NEWSCLICK CASE

Police accuse founder of anti-India activities, portal calls it bogus

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Delhi Police has accused NewsClick founder and editor Prabir Purkayastha and others of being involved in anti-India propaganda using Chinese funds.

NewsClick responded to the charges by calling them "untenable and bogus."

The FIR, registered on August 17 under the stringent Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act (UAPA) and relevant sections of the Indian Penal Code, says that since April 2018, funds in crores of rupees were received by NewsClick through illegal means during a span of five years from Neville Roy Singham, a resident of Shanghai in China, who is an active member of the propaganda department of the Communist Party of China.

The police said Purkayastha and others used the funds for activities that were against the country's sovereignty. NewsClick has said in a statement that it "has not received any funding or instructions from China or Chinese entities. Further, NewsClick has never committed or sought to encourage violence, secession or any illegal act in any manner whatsoever. A perusal of NewsClick's coverage, which is freely available online, should be sufficient to indicate the veracity of NewsClick's claims. The completely absurd nature of allegations in the FIR clearly shows that the proceedings initiated against NewsClick are nothing but a blatant attempt to muzzle the free and independent press in India."

The NewsClick has moved the Delhi High Court seeking quashing of the First Information Report as well as release of Prabir Purkayastha and Amit Chakraborty. The court has issued notice in the petitions and listed them for hearing on Monday.

HC flags 'grounds for arrest', seeks response from cops

JAISON WILSON @ New Delhi

THE High Court on Friday asked why the "grounds for arrest" were not mentioned in the remand application of Delhi Police in the UAPA case against NewsClick founder Prabir Purkayastha and the news portal's HR head Amit Chakraborty.

Justice Tushar Rao Gedela also sought Delhi Police response after hearing Purkayastha and Chakraborty's plea challenging their arrest, remand, and an FIR registered against them under the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act (UAPA), which is reportedly connected to a Chinese funding case, and posted the matter for Monday as the first in the supplementary list.

During the hearing, representing the petitioners, senior advocate Kapil Sibal argued that the arrest was illegal, saying, "No grounds of arrest are given to me." He also said that both the accused are entitled to counsel as per the HC rules. He added that as per rules, if the 24 hours are expiring after the arrest, then a temporary remand is to be issued so that the counsel can appear. But no such order was issued and the remand order did not mention the grounds for arrest.

Though Sibal argued for interim protection till the next hearing on Monday, the single-judge bench, however, refused the petitioner's release. "Why should I be in jail, prima facie, if the (remand) order is wrong?" the senior counsel asked.

To this, the court pointed out that it is not possible for a release due to the nature of the allegations of the case. On the other hand, appearing for police, Solicitor General Tushar Mehta sought time for a response despite suggestions for a hearing on Saturday.

P20 Summit on Oct 13-14, India to hold diplomatic talks with Canada senator

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

INDIA will not overlook discussing diplomatic issues with Canada at the upcoming G20 Parliamentary Speakers' Summit in New Delhi. India plans informal talks on the challenges affecting relations between the two countries, prompted by a recent statement from the Canadian PM regarding the death of a Khalistani extremist.

"We will address listed summit issues formally and other matters informally," said Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla, when asked if allegations against India in the Canadian Parliament would be discussed with the Canadian Senate Speaker, Raymonde Gagne. Gagne has confirmed attendance at the Parliamentary Speakers' Summit from October 13 to 14, which will be inaugurated by Prime Minister Narendra Modi. Om Birla will be chairing the summit.

The summit will host wide-ranging discussions on global issues during four major sessions. The Canadian Senate Speaker joins Parliamentary speakers from various countries, including China's National People's Congress.

Birla noted that, in addition to G20 countries, 10 other nations and international organisations will participate in the summit. "Fifty parliamentarians, 14 secretaries-general, 26 presidents, 10 vice-presidents, one committee chairman, and the inter-parliamentary union presidents have confirmed their participation in the 9th G20 Parliamentary Speakers' Summit, alias P20," Birla further explained.

For the first time, speakers from the Pan African Parliament will participate. India will offer consensus-based solutions for an inclusive, peaceful, and equitable world, based on the spirit of 'Vasudhaiva-Kutumbakam — One Earth, One Family, One Future.'

The P20 Summit will address topics such as accelerating SDGs, sustainable energy transitions, women-led development, and transformation through Public Digital Platforms in its four sessions. Birla highlighted that the summit aims to engage G20 and guest countries in discussions on how parliaments can effectively advance P20 objectives.

Forces' disability pension rules meant to ensure fitter military, says CDS

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

AMID growing apprehensions about the new rules for granting disability pension to armed forces personnel, Chief of Defence Staff General Anil Chauhan said on Friday that these were aimed at protecting the interests of "genuine" people and ensuring a fitter military.

The new rules titled 'Entitlement Rules for Casualty Pension and Disability Compensation Awards to Armed Forces Personnel, 2023' were brought out based on the recommendations of a study involving the three Services, Armed Forces Medical Services and the Department of Ex-Servicemen Welfare.

"The aim of the study was to protect the genuine interests of personnel who acquire disability during service, while preventing the exploitation of its liberal provisions from misuse," the CDS told media.

The provisions of the revised entitlement rules will be applicable for the armed forces personnel who retired after September 21 and there will be no retrospective implementation of the norms, he said.

> The aim of the study was to protect the genuine interests of personnel who acquire disability during service while preventing the exploitation of its liberal provisions from misuse
> Anil Chauhan, Chief of Defence Staff

The new rules were brought out over five months after the Comptroller and Auditor General asked the defence ministry to carry out an analysis of disability among soldiers after finding out that nearly 40 per cent of officers, and 18 per cent of personnel below officer rank, who retire every year, were drawing disability pensions.

But, since the new rules governing the grant of disability pension were unveiled, there have been apprehensions among certain quarters, including the ex-servicemen. Most concerns of the ex-servicemen were addressed by a panel of officers at a meeting on October 3, he said.

In the new rules, the defence ministry introduced a new concept of 'impairment relief' that is aimed largely at addressing lifestyle-related diseases. The forces personnel get higher payouts of up to 30 per cent of their pension emoluments based on the percentage of disability.

Armed Forces personnel who are retained in service despite a disability, held attributable to or aggravated by military service post conduct of retention-cum-impairment assessment medical board, are eligible to be awarded 'capitalised impairment relief' on foregoing which they become eligible for the award of monthly 'impairment relief' at the time of retirement or discharge.

UNICEF withdraws policy brief on age of consent

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

THE United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF) has withdrawn its policy brief on the age of consent for consensual sex in adolescents, following objections from India's child rights body National Commission on Protection of Child Rights (NCPCR). The NCPCR had called UNICEF's interpretation of the implementation of the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act as "misleading."

The policy brief, 'Implication of the POCSO Act in India on Adolescent Sexuality,' was jointly published by the UNICEF, Enfold Proactive Health Trust and United Nations Population Fund in 2022. The document said that consensual sexual acts involving adolescents above 16 years of age should be decriminalised.

After the NCPCR flagged the policy brief, the UNICEF, in a letter to the child rights body, said that the report will not be publicly available. "UNICEF does not endorse any representation or portrayal of the conclusions of the brief as the official UNICEF position," it said.

In the letter, Arjan de Wagt, Deputy Representative Programmes, UNICEF, also confirmed that the distribution of the report has been suspended and it is no longer available on official websites. "We are pleased to confirm that the paper is not UNICEF's policy position on the complex issue of the age of consent, and the conclusions are not endorsed by UNICEF India as policy recommendations. UNICEF does not endorse any representation or portrayal of the conclusions of the brief as the official UNICEF position," he said.

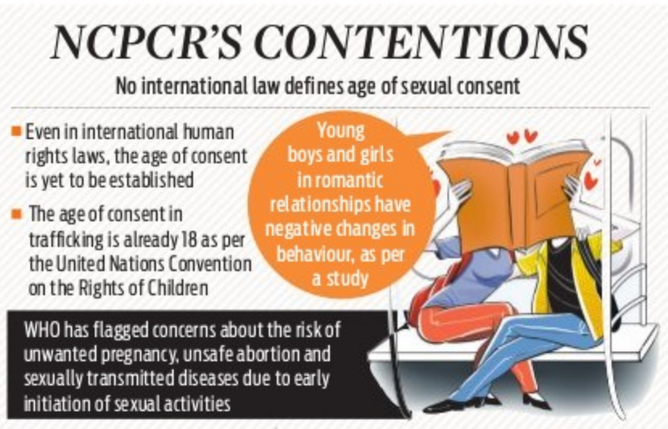
In its letter to UNICEF on September 19, NCPCR chairman Priyank Kanoongo had said that no international law has defined the age of sexual consent. In contrast, international legal frameworks like recruitment, trafficking, sale, prostitution and pornography have a well-defined threshold in their definition. The letter further argued that even in international human rights laws, the age of consent is yet to be established.

There is a general belief that when the age of sexual consent is too young, it fails to protect the child from exploitation. The age of consent in trafficking is already 18 per the United Nations Convention on the Rights of Children, said the letter.

The NCPCR also highlighted World Health Organisation's concerns about the risk of unwanted pregnancy, unsafe abortion and sexually transmitted diseases because of the early initiation of sexual activities.

It also cited a Lancet Child and Adolescent Health report on India's national family health survey, saying that children born to adolescent mothers are at a risk of being undernourished. Even young boys and girls involved in romantic relationships have negative changes in behaviour as per a study in 2016, the letter said.

The study says issues about romantic relationships between adolescents can impact their overall well-being, it said.



NCPCR'S CONTENTIONS
No international law defines age of sexual consent
Even in international human rights laws, the age of consent is yet to be established
The age of consent in trafficking is already 18 as per the United Nations Convention on the Rights of Children
Young boys and girls in romantic relationships have negative changes in behaviour, as per a study
WHO has flagged concerns about the risk of unwanted pregnancy, unsafe abortion and sexually transmitted diseases due to early initiation of sexual activities
When the age of sexual consent is too low, it fails to protect the child from exploitation
Approach the issue in a holistic manner, within the spirit of the law and withdraw the policy brief in the best interest of children

OCTOBER 6, 2023: Calcutta HC acquits a death sentence awardee and commutes death sentence of two others two life imprisonment

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

THE Calcutta High Court on Friday rendered a significant verdict in the case involving the gang rape and murder of a 21-year-old college student that occurred in Kamduni, North 24 Parganas that shocked West Bengal a decade ago. The High court acquitted one individual who had initially been sentenced to capital punishment and commuted the death sentences of two others to life imprisonment.

Initially, a Barasat (lower) court had imposed the death penalty on three of the convicts and sentenced three others to life imprisonment for their roles in the horrifying incident, which unfolded on June 7, 2013, when the victim was returning home after completing an examination on a rainy day.

In response to the High Court's decision, the state government has decided to challenge it in the Supreme Court. The emotional impact of the verdict was palpable, as the victim's brother fell unconscious on the court premises upon hearing the news.

In 2016, a lower court had handed down the death penalty to Amin Ali, Saiful Ali, and Ansar Ali, while Imanul Islam, Aminul Islam, and Bhola Naskar received life imprisonment sentences. The division bench, composed of Justice Joymalya Bagchi and Ajay Kumar Gupta, acquitted Amin Ali and converted the death sentences of Saiful and Ansar to life imprisonment.

Furthermore, the bench acquitted Imanul, Aminul, and Bhola of the charges of gang rape but found them guilty of criminal conspiracy and tampering with evidence. Given that these three individuals have already spent more than a decade in incarceration since their arrest and that their convictions carry a maximum sentence of seven years, the court directed their release upon payment of a fine of ₹10,000 each.

The family members of the victim expressed their dissatisfaction with the High Court's decision, with one of the victim's two brothers voicing their concerns, stating, "We are concerned about our security as three of the accused have been acquitted by the court."

The incident in 2013 shook the state and Chief Minister, Mamata Banerjee,had visited the area and met the victim's family members. She had also promised exemplary punishment for the perpetrators.

'Guilty of criminal conspiracy'

The bench acquitted Imanul, Aminul, and Bhola of the charges of gang rape but found them guilty of criminal conspiracy and tampering with evidence. Given that these three individuals have already spent more than a decade in incarceration since their arrest, the court directed their release upon payment of a fine of ₹10,000 each.

Govt can't wash its hands of patients' deaths: HC

How to strengthen medical care? Everything is in place on paper, but if it is not there on the ground? It is about the general condition of healthcare in the state
Bombay High Court

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE Bombay High Court on Friday warned the Maharashtra government that it cannot shrug off its responsibility to provide medical care to patients in government-run hospitals even though the patients are shifted from private hospitals at the last moment.

A division bench of Chief Justice Devendra Kumar Upadhyaya and Justice Arif Doctor made the critical remarks while hearing a PIL following the recent deaths of patients in government hospitals in Nanded and Chhatrapati Sambhaji Nagar. The court said the state government cannot shift the burden of ensuring public health care onto private hospitals.

According to officials, 31 patients, including many infants, died at the Dr Shankarrao Chavan Government Medical College and Hospital in Nanded in 48 hours since September 30, while the death of 18 patients was recorded at the Government Medical College and Hospital at Chhatrapati Sambhajinagar, earlier known as Aurangabad, between October 2 and 3.

The bench had earlier this week taken suo motu cognizance of the deaths. The court observed that as per the state government affidavit, everything may be available on paper. "But it was also equally important that everything works on the ground," it said. "How to strengthen medical care? Everything is in place on paper, but if it is not there on the ground? It is about the general condition of healthcare in the state," the court said.

The court decided to go through preliminary reports submitted by the state government, which indicated that there were vacancies in the post of medical officers. The court has called for filling these vacancies.

"As against 325 sanctioned posts for junior doctors, 273 were filled. As for senior posts, the report also mentions that as against 97 sanctioned posts, only 49 are filled. For hospitals associated with colleges, the senior and junior residents have responsibilities, and even one empty post cannot be accepted in any situation," the court recorded in its order.

It also noted a reduction in the budgetary allocations for public health and medical education. "The decline in the percentage of allocation by the state to departments is visible," it observed.

Suo motu cognizance

The bench had earlier this week taken suo motu cognizance of the deaths. The court observed that as per state govt affidavit, everything may be available on paper. "But it was important that everything works on the ground," it said.

Jewar eyes domestic, short-distance flights

At least 65 daily flights will operate from Noida International Airport coming up at Jewar by the end of next year. Of these, 62 flights will be domestic, two to foreign destinations and one a cargo carrier. The cities like Mumbai, Bengaluru, Hyderabad, Chennai and Pune, short-distance flights to Dehradun and Pithoragarh in Uttarakhand, are expected to be the initial destinations. Among the foreign destinations, Dubai and Singapore are the most favourables. The airport, which last month received its unique International Air Transport Association code–DXN–has an October 2024 deadline for phase one.

Respect MP's and MLAs bureaucrats told

Recently, while chairing a meeting with divisional commissioners and district magistrates, UP chief secretary DS Mishra warned the bureaucrats of strict action if found flouting the protocols. They were advised to strictly follow rules and extend common courtesy towards the MP's and MLAs whenever they telephone or meet. "When an MLA or MP calls, DCs and DMs should respond to them on a priority basis. In case of inability to receive calls due to a meeting or some other work, their calls should be returned as soon as possible," he said.

Arrangement for decent cremation of pets

To address the issue of disposing dead pets and strays, the Lucknow Municipal Corporation has decided to set up an electric crematorium. A proposal for the same was approved by LMC House last Saturday. Lucknow has over 9,000 registered and an estimated 20,000 non-registered pets and a population of around 80,000 street dogs. "Around 100 street dogs and 20 pets die on average every day. So the absence of a proper disposal system of animal carcasses has been felt for a long time. We'd been trying to get funds for an animal incinerator. Finally, the LMC House has allocated ₹3 crore for such a facility in the city," said Additional Municipal Commissioner.

SC issues notice on writ petition against freebies

JAISON WILSON @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday issued notice to Madhya Pradesh and Rajasthan governments on a plea against the announcement of 'distribution of freebies' ahead of election.

Seeking the responses of the plea which alleged that taxpayers' monies are misused by the two state governments to lure voters, a bench headed by Chief Justice D Y Chandrachud also issued notices to the Centre, the Election Commission and the Reserve Bank of India.

"There can be nothing more atrocious than the government distributing cash before the polls," the petitioners' counsel argued before the bench also comprising Justices J B Pardiwala and Manoj Misra.

It also tagged the plea along with an earlier case of Advocate and BJP leader Ashwini Upadhyay's plea which raised the issue of election freebies.

In his plea, petitioner Bhattulal Jain, submitted that the financial situation of Rajasthan and Madhya Pradesh is bad, as evidenced by the reports of the RBI, however, the Chief Ministers of these states have announced cash benefits a few months ahead of the assembly elections, which are due the end of this year.

Priyanka promises caste survey in C'garh

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

CONGRESS general secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra on Friday said if her party retains power in Chhattisgarh after the upcoming assembly polls, a caste census will be carried out in the state on the lines of a similar exercise conducted in Bihar.

Participating in the Nagariya Nikay Evam Panchayati Raj Mahasammelan (Municipal Bodies and Panchayati Raj mega conference) at Kanker district, she also promised 10 lakh houses for the poor if her party gets elected again in the polls due by the year-end.

She asked, "Why the BJP-led Centre is not doing caste census? They are not interested in people's welfare and only want major Public Sector Units be sold to their industrialist friends who can then fund the BJP to win elections as their aim is to remain in power".

Taking a dig at Prime Minister Narendra Modi, the Congress leader said guarantees given by him are just hollow promises. She slammed his assertion on assuring the guarantees, comparing it with the Chinese products that 'despite claims of long life didn't last'.

"All the guarantees by the PM are hollow. The entire country is watching. The people need to remain alert and aware", Priyanka said.

Citing the rising inflation across the nation, she criticised the Centre for allegedly inappropriately imposing GST and taxes on every product and process that further bring-in higher increase in prices leading to more distress for the poor and middle class segment.

Priyanka lashed out at the Centre for taking credit for what the state (Congress) government achieves for the welfare of the people.

"The PM claimed the Centre pays money for paddy procurement in Chhattisgarh, the state with highest MSP. If that is so, then why in Varanasi (home constituency of the PM) and Uttar Pradesh the paddy growers are getting only ₹1200-1400 per quintal," she said.

Poll-ready Shivraj unveils ₹53K crore projects in Bhopal

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

THE Shivraj Singh Chouhan government in Madhya Pradesh is actively initiating development projects ahead of the announcement of election dates by the Election Commission of India (ECI) and the subsequent enforcement of the model code of conduct for assembly polls.

With an eye on securing another term in power, the BJP government recently dedicated and laid the foundation for projects valued at ₹53,000 crore across the state.

During a state-level event in Bhopal, Chief Minister Chouhan disclosed that these projects included four significant endeavors totaling Rs 9,500 crore for Bhopal and its neighboring districts. In his own assembly segment of Budhni in Sehore district, Chouhan performed Bhoomi-Pujan and inaugurated construction and development projects exceeding Rs 334 crore. Similar ceremonies took place in various gram panchayats, including Budhni, Rehti, Shahganj, and Bherunda.

Furthermore, Chief Minister Chouhan facilitated the disbursement of Rs 219 crore as grants to beneficiaries of the PM Ujwala Yojana and non-Ujwala Ladli Behna Yojana, ensuring they can purchase cooking gas cylinders at a subsidized rate of ₹450 each.

Notably, these initiatives transpired just two days after the state government announced a 35% quota for women in direct government department recruitment, excluding the forest department.

In Ujjain, Chouhan inaugurated projects worth ₹242.35 crore, marking the second phase of the Mahakal Lok temple corridor expansion. This expansion extended the Mahakal Temple premises from 2.87 hectares to 47 hectares, encompassing features such as the Neelkanth Forest, green area development, sales space, landscape plaza, and modern Jan Suvidha Kendras.

The newly constructed Anna Kshetra, the country's largest, will provide food to one lakh devotees daily.

3 days after flash floods hit Sikkim, Army personnel among 103 people missing

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Guwahati/Kolkata

THREE days after the tragedy struck the Himalayan state but there is no trace of at least 103 people, including some Army personnel.

Army and NDRF teams, both on foot and in boats, have recovered 25 bodies including seven army men from the slush and debris of the flash flood which swept through Sikkim's Teesta river, officials said on Friday.

The flood was triggered by a cloudburst in the early hours of Wednesday. Officials said some 2,413 people have been rescued and are in shelters.

After visiting some affected areas, Sikkim Chief Minister Prem Singh Tamang quoting from a report released by the Sikkim State Disaster Management Authority said 3,000 tourists and more than 800 drivers continued to remain stranded, but they were safe.

"It is a massive disaster, not just for the state but also for the country," Tamang said, adding damage could be worth thousands of crores of rupees. He said a team from the Ministry of Home Affairs would visit the state to assess the damage while the state government would form a technical committee by drawing dam experts, scientists and environmentalists and find out what the state should do in the future.

In a statement, the Defence Ministry said the search for the missing Indian Army perssonel continued.

Meanwhile, a seven-year-old boy was killed while six others of his family were injured in a mortar explosion in West Bengal's Jalpaiguri on Thursday evening. The mortar – part of Indian Army's ammunition – was swept away by the Teesta. The river flows down into Bengal before entering Bangladesh. The victim was identified as Sahinur Alam.

Land sinking threat looms over Himachal

As the monsoon fury ends in Himachal Pradesh, 201 villages in the state face the threat of land subsidence or sudden sinking. Sources said land subsidence has taken place across the state with the highest in Solan district (51 villages) followed by Mandi (46) and Chamba (43).

Not a single hostel built for SC girls in Guj in 3 yrs

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

THE Gujarat government has been saying the government is working hard to educate poor and scheduled caste girls, but the state has not built even a single hostel or residential school for Scheduled Caste (SC) girls in the last three years.

The Gujarat government has stated in the Legislative Assembly that not a single 'New Government hostel' or 'Adarsh Nivashi Kanya School' (Ideal Residential School for Girls) for SC girls has been built in Gujarat in the last three years.

This is despite the fact that there is not a single government hostel or a 'Adarsh Nivashi Kanya School' for SC girls in 10 districts in Gujarat.

According to the Gujarat government, there are 32 government hostels for SC girls running in 33 districts, whereas there are only 12 'Ideal Residential Schools'. 'Adarsh residential schools' assist children to pursue post-primary education. These schools offer fully free education and lodging to students. On September 14, in response to a question from Congress MLA Vimal Chudasma, the Department of Social Justice and Empowerment stated "the state has built no new girls government hostels or Ideal Residential Schools for Scheduled Caste Girls" in the three years.

According to government data, there is not a single government SC girl's hostel or SC girls' ideal residential school in Gujarat districts such as Bharuch, Dang, Navsari, Valsad, Tapi, Chhota Udepur, Narmada, Dwarka, Morbi, and SabarKantha.

Gujarat Congress scheduled caste (SC) Dept Chairman Hitendra Pithadiya alleged that "In the budget allocated to the Department of Social Justice and Empowerment, negligible budget is used for education. All other things are done in the name of the budget for SC education. As the 'Samaras hostel' was built in Gujarat, it was built from the budget allocated to Dalits."

"The government most likely does not know or does not want to reveal how many Dalits are studying in the 'Samaras hostel' built with Dalit funds," he added

Pithadiya asked a question and stated "The government does not give a dedicated budget to Dalits and the budget it gives is used in other ways, like they use for 'Samaras hostel', so how can the government build ideal residential schools or government hostels for Dalit girls in three years?

On the March 2023 31, 1,554 scheduled castegirls were in government hostels, while 1,170 girls were studying in ideal girls' schools.

NOBEL FOR IRAN'S JAILED RIGHTS ACTIVIST

Mohammadi has pressed on with activism despite personal cost

OSLO

THE Nobel Peace Prize was on Friday awarded to imprisoned rights campaigner Narges Mohammadi, honoured for her long fight against the oppression of women in Iran.

Mohammadi has for decades campaigned on the most sensitive issues in the Islamic republic, opposing pillars of the clerical system including capital punishment and the obligatory hijab, and defiantly refusing to give up her campaigning even behind bars.

She has not seen her children for eight years, has spent most of her recent life in prison and acknowledges there is no immediate prospect of release. Yet still she insists her struggle is worthwhile, saying the protest movement that erupted one year ago in Iran against the Islamic republic is still alive.

Her struggle has come with tremendous personal costs. Mohammadi has missed much of the childhood of her twin children, Kiana and Ali, as well as the pain of being apart from her husband Rahmani. "In 24 years of marriage, we had just five or six years of living together!" he said. As well as not seeing the children for eight years, restrictions placed by the prison on her telephone calls means she has not even heard their voices for more than a year and a half. First arrested 22 years ago, Mohammadi, 51, has spent much of the past two decades in and out of jail over her unstinting campaigning for human rights in Iran.

Even in prison, she does not forget her duties and provides information about the situation of the prisoners

Reza Moini, Iranian human rights activist

The activist "is the most determined person I know," her husband Taghi Rahmani, who has been a refugee in France since 2012 with their two children, twins now aged 17, told AFP.

"She has three causes in her life—respect for human rights, her feminist commitment and justice for all the crimes that have been committed," said Rahmani.

While she could only witness from behind bars the protests that broke out following the death on September 16, 2022, of Mahsa Amini—who had been arrested for violating Iran's strict dress rules for women—she says the movement made clear the levels of dissatisfaction in society.

"The government was not able to break the protests of the people of Iran," she told AFP in September in written answers from Tehran's Evin prison where she is held, describing the protest wave as "irreversible."

Born in 1972 in Zanjan, in the northwest of Iran, Mohammadi studied physics before becoming an engineer. But she then launched a new career in journalism, working for newspapers that were at the time part of the reformist movement.

In the 2000s, she joined the Center for Human Rights Defenders, founded by the Iranian lawyer Shirin Ebadi, Nobel Peace Prize winner in 2003, fighting in particular for the abolition of the death penalty.

"Narges had the possibility of leaving the country but she always refused... She became the voice of the voiceless. Even in prison, she does not forget her duties and provides information about the situation of the prisoners," said Reza Moini, an Iranian human rights activist based in Paris who knows her well.

In her book White Torture, Mohammadi denounced prisoners' conditions of detention, in particular the use of solitary confinement, which she says she herself also suffered. Regular updates about the situation in prison are posted on her Instagram account run by her family. AFP

Proud of my mother, says Narges Mohammadi's son

PARIS

THE son and husband of imprisoned Iranian women's activist Narges Mohammadi on Friday paid tribute to the winner of this year's Nobel Peace Prize. "I am very, very proud of my mother, very happy," said her 17-year-old son, Ali Rahmani, at a Paris news conference also attended by his father and twin sister.

He had not seen his mother in eight years, he added. "The government is trying to break the prisoners in Iran," he said. "This prize is an award for her struggle in Iran."

France's President Emmanuel Macron paid tribute Friday to the bravery of Mohammadi. Macron dubbed the award "a strong choice for a freedom fighter who each time faced the reality, the reality, the cruelty of this regime, including suffering several years in prison."

Acting US envoy on Iran Abram Paley said the entire world stands united in recognising her courage. "Narges Mohammadi is a hero to so many in Iran and around the world," Paley wrote on X.

UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres said the Nobel Prize award to Mohammadi was "a tribute to all those women who are fighting for their rights at the risk of their freedom, their health and even their lives."

The choice of recipient was "an important reminder that the rights of women and girls are facing a strong pushback, including through the persecution of women human rights defenders, in Iran and elsewhere," he said. Agencies

Iran decries Nobel Peace Prize, calls it biased &political

TEHRAN

NOBEL Peace Prize for Narges Mohammadi comes after a wave of protests swept Iran following the death in custody a year ago of a young Iranian Kurd, Mahsa Amini, who was arrested for violating Iran's strict dress rules for women.

Iran is ranked 143rd out of 146 countries on the World Economic Forum's gender equality ranking.

A total of 551 protesters, including 68 children and 49 women, were killed by security forces, according to Iran Human Rights. "This award is a slap in the face of (Iranian supreme leader) Ali Khamenei's regime, which has declared war on its own people," Masih Alinejad, an Iranian hijab opponent, said. Meanwhile, Iran on Friday denounced the "biased and political" action by the Nobel committee for awarding jailed rights campaigner Narges Mohammadi the Peace Prize.

"We note that the Nobel Peace Committee awarded the Peace Prize to a person who was convicted of repeated violations of laws and criminal acts," Foreign Ministry spokesman Nasser Kanani said. "We condemn this biased and political move." In what would have been unthinkable a year ago, women now go out in public without the headscarf, in particular in Tehran.

A 16-year-old girl is currently in a coma after being attacked on Sunday by female police officers tasked with enforcing the mandatory hijab among other things. Wearing the hijab is one of the pillars of Islamic republic. Authorities have stepped up controls, using surveillance cameras among other things. AFP

Nawaz Sharif submits medical reports to Lahore court for protective bail

LAHORE/ISLAMABAD

AS the date of return of former Pakistan PM Nawaz Sharif drew closer, a medical report on his health on Friday showed that he still had "some residual anginal symptoms" which would require "frequent follow-up investigations" in London and Pakistan.

Nawaz, 73, is expected to return to Pakistan on October 21 after about four years of self-imposed exile in London where he has been living since November 2019 when he went there for medical treatment.

A medical report signed by Professor Carlo Di Mario, a consultant cardiologist at the Royal Brompton and Harefield Hospitals, was submitted to the Lahore High Court (LHC) on Friday.

Mario said that he had previously followed Nawaz, who had previously undergone coronary artery bypass grafting, multiple angioplasties and ablations, throughout his stay in London.

"We first tried medical treatment, strengthening his antianginal therapy. His persistent anginal symptoms and restrictions imposed by the Covid-19 epidemic precluded a safe return of (Nawaz) to Pakistan," he said.

The cardiologist said that when Nawaz's symptoms worsened, and another angioplasty was conducted in November 2022 which targeted an "occluded left circumflexed artery."

"It required rotational atherectomy, intravascular lithotripsy, and multiple stents deployed and expanded under IVUS (Intravascular ultrasound) guidance. (Nawaz) Sharif still has some residual anginal symptoms due to diffuse distal coronary disease in a patient with diabetes and multiple other comorbidities that would require frequent follow-up investigations both in London and Pakistan," he said.

Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N) Party leaders say Nawaz will secure protective bail ahead of his scheduled arrival and he will surrender to court in the Al Azizia corruption case after addressing the nation at a rally at the Minar-e-Pakistan, Lahore, on October 21. PTI

Stable interest rate to aid home sales

RBI in its October review meeting maintained status quo for fourth straight occasions

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE RBI's decision to keep repo rate unchanged at 6.5% is likely to keep housing demand strong in the upcoming festive season.

The monetary policy committee of the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) in its October review meeting maintained status quo for the fourth straight occasions. "Continuation of pause in the repo rate was much needed albeit looming inflationary pressure arising from – rising crude prices and rupee depreciation. By pausing the policy rate, RBI continues to maintain its focus on growth, which is facing headwinds primarily from the external factors like slowdown in global growth, high energy prices and geopolitical tensions; and remains cautious of inflationary pressure as well," said Shishir Baijal, Chairman & Managing Director, Knight Frank India.

The momentum in residential sales so far has sustained even as an inflationary environment forced RBI to raise repo rate upwards by 250 bps between May 2022 and February 2023. Despite the 250 basis point increase in repo rate, the transmission to bank lending rates is not complete, as per the monetary policy panel. The average lending rates on fresh and outstanding rupee loans rose by 196 bps and 112 bps, respectively, during May 2022-August 2023.

This has been affecting homebuyers, especially of affordable segment, as the interest on home loans has surged to about 9% from less than 7% in April 2022. The industry was concerned that another rate hike, coupled with high real estate prices, may discourage buyers from making a big ticket purchase.

Surendra Hiranandani, Chairman and managing director, House of Hiranandani, said the monetary policy committee's decision to maintain the current repo rate is prudent and encouraging for the housing market.

"The Indian real estate market has witnessed a notable growth of 9.5% since early 2023. The REPO rate decision, coupled with the upcoming festive season, will only bolster this growth further. Festive season embarks a surge in the demand and sales of properties connected to long-standing traditions and characterised by their auspicious origins. Additionally, the steadfast repo rate plays a crucial role in relieving pressure within the sector and spurring growth in infrastructure and construction," said Hiranandani.

ADIA invests another ₹5,000 crore in Reliance Retail for 0.59% stake

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

ABU DHABI INVESTMENT AUTHORITY will invest ₹4,966 crore in Reliance Retail Ventures (RRVL) for 0.59% additional stake in the company, the retail arm of Reliance Industries said in a statement.

This investment values RRVL at a pre-money equity value of ₹8.381 lakh crore, which makes it among the top four companies by equity value in the country. ADIA had earlier invested ₹5,512.50 crore into RRVL in 2020 and picked up 1.2% stake in the company.

"We are pleased to further deepen our relationship with ADIA with their continued support as an investor in Reliance Retail Ventures Limited... ADIA's investment in RRVL is a further testament to their belief in the Indian economy and our business fundamentals, strategy and execution capabilities," said Isha Mukesh Ambani, executive director, Reliance Retail Ventures Limited.

Hamad Shahwan Aldhaheri, executive director of the private equities department, ADIA, said: "Reliance Retail has demonstrated strong growth and adaptability in a market that is evolving at an unprecedented pace. This investment aligns with our strategy of supporting our portfolio companies that are transforming their respective end-markets. We are pleased to partner with the Reliance Group, and increase our exposure to India's dynamic and fast-growing consumer sector."

Earlier, Qatar Investment Authority (QIA), the sovereign wealth fund of Qatar, had committed an investment of ₹8,278 crore in RRVL, to acquire 0.99% stake. QIA had valued Reliance Retail at ₹8.28 lakh crore.

RRVL, through its subsidiaries and associates, operates India's largest retail business with an integrated omnichannel network of over 18,500 stores and digital commerce platforms across grocery, consumer electronics, fashion & lifestyle, and pharma consumption baskets. RRVL has digitised over 3 million small and unorganised merchants. This will enable these merchants to use technology tools and an efficient supply chain infrastructure to deliver a superior value proposition to their own customers.

RBI likely to allow issuer banks to create card tokens

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

WITH an aim to enhance convenience for cardholders, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) on Friday proposed to introduce card-on-file tokenisation (CoFT) at issuer bank level.

Currently, CoF token can only be created through merchant's application or webpage. Experts say this will revolutionise the country's ecommerce landscape, and will enhance security of online transactions. RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das said CoFT creation facilities directly at the issuer bank level.

This will enhance convenience for cardholders to get tokens created and linked to their existing accounts with various e-commerce applications. According to experts, introduction of card-on-file tokenisation directly at the bank level is a game changer for both cardholders as well as the financial industry. Tokenisation will replace actual card details with an alternate code called 'token'. If a consumer uses a tokenised card transaction, it is safer as the card details are not shared with the merchant. Currently, one has to enter either debit or credit card transaction details. Rahul Jain, CFO, NTT DATA Payment Services India, said this process poses minimal challenges for issuer banks, as most of them can leverage the existing unified payment framework for token creation. "Tokenisation represents a crucial reform that greatly enhances the security of online transactions. CoF Tokenisation, in particular, adds an extra layer of protection to card credentials, making it essential for every cardholder to utilise this feature to safeguard their data, which would otherwise be vulnerable during card transactions," he said. Khilan Haria, SVP & head of payments product, Razorpay said this will empower cardholders to create tokens across frequently used merchants, eliminating payment friction and the need to manually enter card data.

RBI flags high personal loan growth rate

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE banking regulator has once again expressed its concern over high growth in certain components of personal loans.

Governor Shaktikanta Das said RBI ismonitoring this aspect for any signs of incipient stress.

"Banks and NBFCs would be advised to strengthen their internal surveillance mechanisms, address the build-up of risks, if any, and institute suitable safeguards in their own interest. The need of the hour is robust risk management and stronger underwriting standards," the RBI Governor said in his monetary policy statement. According to RBI, personal loans contributed 37.7% of incremental bank credit (YoY) in August 2023.

REAL WAGES FALL FOR 17TH STRAIGHT MONTH IN AUG

Average monthly wages in inflation-adjusted terms in Japan fell for 17th straight month in August as price increases continued to outpace nominal earnings growth, according to the official data released on Friday. According to the Ministry of Health, Labor and Welfare, inflation-adjusted real wages, a barometer of consumer purchasing power, declined by 2.5% from in August last year. Nominal monthly earnings, which includes base pay and overtime, jumped 1.1% from a the same month the previous year to reach 282,700 yen (about $1,900), which failed to keep up with soaring consumer prices despite an increase for the 20th straight month. Basic salary went up 1.6% year on year, while overtime pay, a gauge of business activity, rose 1%. The consumer price index excluding imputed rent, used to calculate the real wage index, declined to 3.7%, data showed. Household spends in the country fell by 2.5% in August from a year earlier, marking a sixth month of decline, separate data released by the Ministry of Internal Affairs and Communications on Friday showed.

PHILIPPINES

RATE HIKES COULD HURT CONSUMERS: MINISTER

The economics minister of the Philippines on Friday cautioned that further raising interest rates will hurt consumers already suffering from high inflation. Economic Planning Secretary Arsenio Balisacan said the economy questioned whether monetary tightening by the country's central bank was still necessary. The central bank said on Thursday that it "stands ready to resume monetary policy tightening as necessary" to stem price pressures as the annual inflation jumped for a second straight month in September on account of rising food and transport costs. The central bank has held rates steady for its last four meetings. The inflation rate of 6.1% last month was the highest in four months, jumping from August's 5.3%. It brought average inflation to 6.6%, well beyond the central bank's 2-4% target for the year. Balisacan, who is not a member of the central bank's policy-making monetary board, said raising rates "can hurt" the economy and consumers.

PAKISTAN

FOREIGN DEBT RATIO SHOOTS UP AMID ECONOMIC CRISIS

Cash-strapped Pakistan's foreign debt ratio has shot up from 36.9% in FY22 to 38.3% in FY23, according to a report on Friday. The Ministry of Finance's Annual Debt Review and Public Debt Bulletin FY2023 showed that the total public debt peaked at 62.88 trillion Pakistani rupee till the end of June 2023 against 49.2 trillion Pakistani rupee, indicating that the total public debt jumped by 13.64 trillion Pakistani rupee during the last fiscal year 2022-23 in the tenure of Pakistan Democratic Movement (PDM) coalition government. After giving details of the total outstanding guarantees to public sector enterprises, those issued to the oil and gas sector and the guarantees issued against commodity operations, the report said, the ratio of domestic debt to total public debt in percentage has gone down from 63.1% in FY22 to 61.7% in FY23, but at the same time, the ratio of foreign debt has gone up from 36.9% to 38.3%, showing an increase in the ratio of foreign loans by 1.4%.

BUYBACK

TCS to consider share buyback on October 11

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

THE country's largest IT services company Tata Consultancy Services (TCS) will consider buyback of equity shares on October 11.

It will be announcing the second quarterly results on the same day. In its BSE filing on Friday, the company announced that the Board of Directors will consider a proposal for buyback of equity shares of the Company, at its meeting to be held on October 11, 2023.

Earlier in 2022, TCS bought back shares worth ₹18,000 crore at ₹4,500 apiece. In 2020, the company had announced share buyback to the tune of ₹16,000 crore at ₹3,000 per share. TCS had approved a proposal to buy back up to over 5.3 crore equity shares. In October 2022, Infosys completed its ₹9,300 crore share buyback plan at ₹1,850, which was a premium of 30%. Another IT company Wipro too completed its ₹12,000 crore share buyback earlier this year.

As per analysts, TCS is expected to outperform its tier-1 peers and it will deliver sequential growth both in profit after tax and revenues.

In the first quarter, TCS reported a 16.8% YoY increase in consolidated net profit at Rs 11,074 crore. Its revenue for the first quarter stood at ₹59,381 crore, a 12.6% increase compared to ₹52,758 crore in the same quarter last year.

Govt notice to X, Youtube over child abuse material

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Ministry of Electronics and IT has issued notices to social media intermediaries X, Youtube and Teleram, asking them to remove child sexual abuse material (CSAM) from their platforms on the Indian internet.

The government also warned that any delay in complying with the notices will result in withdrawal of their safe harbour protection under Section 79 of the IT Act, which currently shields them from legal liability.

"We have sent notices to X, Youtube and Telegram to ensure there are no child sexual abuse materials that exist on their platforms," said Rajeev Chandrasekhar, minister of state Electronics & IT.

The minister further explained that the rules under the Information Technology Act lays down strict expectations from social media intermediaries that they should not allow criminal or harmful posts on their platforms.

"If they do not act swiftly, their safe harbour under section 79 of the IT Act would be withdrawn and consequences under the Indian law will follow," said the minister.

The government also asked them to implement the proactive measures, such as content moderation algorithms and reporting mechanisms, to prevent the dissemination of CSAM in the future.

The Information Technology (IT) Act, 2000, provides the legal framework for addressing pornographic content, including child sexual abuse material . Sections 66E, 67, 67A, and 67B of the IT Act impose stringent penalties and fines for the online transmission of obscene or pornographic content.

DoT rejects VIL's objections to licence fee demand of ₹3,273 crore

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

TELECOM service provider Vodafone Idea on Friday said the Department of Telecommunications (DoT) has disposed off its representation and objections related to a licence fee demand of ₹3,273 crore.

The loss-making company, in an exchange filing, said it has in the past written to DoT to correct the errors in demands up to FY 2016-17, which DoT has not acted upon so far.

"...the Department of Telecommunication (DoT) vide its communication dated October 4, 2023, has disposed off the company's representation and objections in respect of license fee demand of ₹1,749 crore and ₹1,524 crore, respectively (including Interest till 31 March 2023) for financial year(s) 2015-16 and 2016-17," said the company.

The issue is related to non-payment of adjusted gross revenue (AGR) by the telco to the government. The government said the telco has not paid the entire licence fee till 2016. Vi said it had in the past written to DoT to correct the errors in demands up to FY 2016-17, which DoT has not acted upon so far.

"If however, it is permissible for DoT to modify the demands for the period covered by the Judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court, then in that event there are various errors which need to be corrected and which would reduce the demand crystallised by Supreme Court. A review petition was filed by the company seeking directions from the Supreme Court to carry out correction of these errors and the same continues to be pending," said the company in an exchange filing. Meanwhile, the company is facing problems from all fronts. Indus Tower, a telecom infrastructure provider said on Thursday it may restrict its services for Vodafone Idea as the latter has defaulted on its payments.

The tower company, in a letter dated 3 October 2023 to the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI), said in case of Vi continuing to breach its payment obligations, Indus will not only have recourse to all lawful remedies but also be entitled to mitigate its losses by restricting its services for Vodafone Idea.

Govt may ease FDI rules in Space sector

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

The Centre may loosen the grip on foreign fund flow into the country's private space players, as it seeks to promote private sector industry in this space and attract foreign investments.

Speaking at an event, the Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade (DPIIT) Secretary Rajesh Kumar Singh said the government may liberalise the foreign direct investment (FDI) norms for the Space sector. "We've tried to maintain an almost Open Sky policy for almost all sectors. Though liberalisation will continue and we may expand it further to even some of our sectors like space as well," he said. Singh at a road-show for Vibrant Gujarat Summit to be held in January 2024 added that this will improve ease of doing business. The Indian National Space Promotion and Authorization Centre (IN-SPACe), commercial space activity promotional body, is working on a revised FDI policy.

Seven sectoral group of secretaries submit inputs for PM Vision 2047

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

SEVEN sectoral groups of secretaries (SGoS), which have been formed to help Prime Minister Narendra Modi in framing strategies for his vision 2047, have submitted their inputs to the Prime Minister Office, a highly-placed official told this newspaper.

According to sources, the SGoS have been created for sectors like, research and development in science and technology, finance and economy, health, social justice and development, green and renewable energy, agriculture and allied services.

"Finance ministry has given most of the inputs. Some more inputs are pending, which will be submitted in a few weeks. Science and technology ministry has submitted their views for the vision, while the Health Ministry is still working on it," a top official confirmed to TNIE. According to the sources, the SGoS have basically laid down the targets to be achieved in the next 25 years for various themes like infrastructure development, innovation in science and digital infrastructure among others.

Before the G20 summit, Prime Minister Modi in his interview to PTI had outlined his vision for India to become a developed nation by 2047, free from corruption, casteism, and communalism. He highlighted India's recent accomplishments, which have positioned it as one of the world's leading economies.

Earlier this newspaper had reported that the Prime Minister Narendra Modi will reveal a vision document for India in December this year. Think tank NITI Aayog, based on the inputs received by various group of secretaries, is working on the paper.

"This document will provide a roadmap to tackle the upcoming challenges that India will face in the coming decades. The focus will shift from resolving the challenges of the past to addressing future challenges. The vision, known as PM's Vision 2047, will lay out strategies for the future development of the country," another top official said.

HISTORIC MEDAL FOR SEPAKTAKRAW TEAM

India clinched their first-ever medal in women's sepaktakraw at the Asiad with the regu team — Ayekpam Maipak Devi, Oinam Chaoba Devi, Khushbu, Elangbam Priya Devi and Elangbam Leirentombi Devi — winning a bronze.

"I had more chances in the first game but it drifted away from me... At my current fitness level, I'm happy to play the semifinal on such a big stage."
— HS Prannoy, India shuttler who lost in semis to win bronze

SHORT TAKES

Indian archers end 13-year wait

A 13-year wait ended in archery on Friday when the Indian men's and women's teams surpassed expectations to clinch a silver and bronze respectively, their first medals since 2010, at the Asiad. The recurve team of Ankita Bhakat, Simranjeet Kaur and Bhajan Kaur bagged a bronze medal in the morning session. Later, the men's team won silver.

India men's bridge team clinch silver

The Indian men's team stumbled on the final hurdle against Hong Kong, and settled for a silver medal in the bridge competition. India lost to Hong Kong 152-238.1. The Indian team consisting of Sandeep Thakral, Jaggy Shivadasni, Raju Tolani and Ajay Prabhkar Khare could not challenge the Hong Kong outfit at any point during the six sessions, spread over two days.

Sat-Chi one step away from gold

HS Prannoy signed off with a bronze, India's first medal in men's singles in 41 years, but Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty kept alive the country's hopes of a first-ever badminton gold after cruising into the men's doubles final on Friday. Satwik and Chirag beat Malaysia's Aaron Chia and Soh Wooi Yik 21-17, 21-12.

Men's hockey team put up a dominant performance in the final against Japan to pocket top prize & the all-important Paris Olympics quota

GOLDEN TICKET

Indian players celebrate their victory against Japan on Friday | PTI

THE sun has largely been hiding in Hangzhou over the last few days. As a result, temperatures have largely been in the low to mid 20*c. It was cloudy with a hint of moisture in the air on Friday as well. The Indian men's hockey team, though, lifted the gloom with a very un-Indian, commanding performance in a big final to punch their Paris Olympics ticket. The scoreline — a 5-1 win over Japan — reflected the gulf in class between the two nations. With it, the new regime has passed its first big test with flying colours.

When Craig Fulton gave his first full press conference after taking over as chief coach of the men's hockey side, he made no bones about his main target. "The priority is to qualify for Paris by winning the Asian Games," he had said in May. "That is our number one priority by using the Pro League, the Four Nations in Spain and then the Asian Champions Trophy to really set us up to be as strong and as connected as possible, to put ourselves in a good position to try and qualify straight away for Paris."

They did that in a largely convincing manner. At the Gonshu Canal Sports Park Stadium, they managed to avenge their 2018 semifinal defeat. Japan's forward line has caused some discomfort to India in the recent past. Since the Tokyo Games, these two have played out a 5-3 (India win), a 3-5 (Japan win), a 2-5 (Japan win) as well as a 4-2 in the group stages last week.

Usually, in big finals involving Indian hockey, there is always a sense of jeopardy, a nervousness given the history. Not this time, though. Penalty corners were converted with minimum fuss, whenever they went forward they looked like adding to the scoreline and the dangerous Japanese attack didn't cause too much of a problem. While it remained goalless in the first quarter, the floodgates opened after Manpreet Singh's stunning reverse hit.

That it was Harmanpreet Singh who extended the advantage as well as put the gloss at the end with a brace of penalty corners is also hugely symbolic. He cut a sorry figure after a failure to convert any of the dead-balls against the Black Sticks at the World Cup. Here, he was all smiles. At the end of the match, Mandeep Singh, who seemed to have damaged his hamstring, was dancing on one leg. The others were celebrating in a manner that was almost reminiscent of Tokyo.

While they were expected to deliver a gold at this level — they are far and away the best side and the Asian Champions Trophy in August again showed the difference between the best and the rest — the World No 3 have never been able to marry expectation with deliverance. In the heat and humidity of Jakarta, for example, they crumbled under pressure when qualification for Tokyo was up in the air. At the World Cup earlier this year, they folded like a house of cards. In that sense, Fulton can be quietly happy with the work he has managed to accomplish in the few short months he has been here.

While big shiny medals are always the truest signs of tangible progress, whether they like it or not, this team shouldn't be judged on what they win at the continental level. Malaysia, Asia's second-best team by rankings, are 10th and 800 points worse. Instead, they should be judged on their performances and whether there has been progress in terms of what Fulton set out to do. Even when he was an outsider looking in, he had thought of India as a team that was great at home while dodgy away from home. As soon as he assumed his position as coach, he put in place a plan to make them sturdier at the back — to be less leaky. "Philosophy wise," he had said in his opening press conference, "I would like to defend to win. I would like to have our defensive structures in place because that's the first step of attacking."

HANGZHOU

So, there was going to be a radical shift in the DNA. India's sometimes mindless attacking, where all of them would go after the ball without a care in the world for structures, would be going out of the window. While this remains a work in progress — they conceded three goals to South Korea only a few days ago — he has got the buy-in from the players.

That buy-in was in evidence on the blue turf in the final. A goalless first 15 minutes didn't spread impatience among the players. They trusted the system and the structure (a word Fulton uses so much it must be imprinted in the back of the players' minds) rather than chase goals, something they have always done in big matches, irrespective of the nature of the opponent. The authoritative nature of the results would have also pleased the South African — in all they have scored 68 goals and conceded only none across seven matches. The end result? For the first time since 1982, an Indian hockey side holds Olympic and Asiad medals at the same time.

First-ever Asiad medal in women's sepaktakraw

India clinched their first-ever medal in women's sepaktakraw at the Asian Games with the regu team winning a bronze after losing to powerhouse Thailand in the semifinals on Friday. The Indian women's team of Ayekpam Maipak Devi, Oinam Chaoba Devi, Khushbu, Elangbam Priya Devi and Elangbam Leirentombi Devi lost 10-21, 13-21 in the semifinals.

Powerless Bajrang returns empty-handed

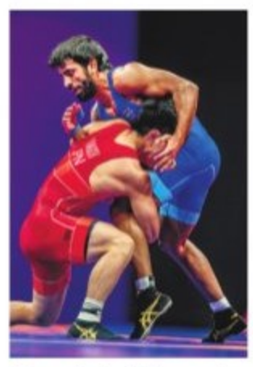
SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Hangzhou

WHEN Bajrang Punia hit the mat for the fourth and final time, he allowed his face to be buried for a touch longer than necessary. It was like he wanted some time to process the beatdown he had just received. The electronic scoreboard said there was 89 seconds remaining for him to stage a fightback but Kaiki Yamaguchi had rendered that information obsolete. The 2021 Olympic bronze medallist had lost 0-10 (he had conceded two one-pointers before suffering four two point takedowns), a humbling loss. The Japanese had sealed the victory by technical superiority.

It wasn't even a surprise. While the 24-year-old Yamaguchi was quicker and faster, Punia, 29, looked like he was wrestling with a heavy back-pack on his shoulder. He was slower, the reflexes just weren't quite up to point and his mind and body were on two different wavelengths. This may well be a kneejerk reaction but this 0-10 defeat (one of his last competitive losses, at the 2022 World Championships, was also by the same margin) had career-ending vibes to it. That he goes back from Hangzhou without a medal is also not a surprise because his last competition came a year ago (the above-mentioned Worlds). It's also a first experience for the 65kg freestyle wrestler — he had won a medal in all his previous multi-discipline Games (bronze in Tokyo, gold in Birmingham, Jakarta and Gold Coast and silver in Incheon and Glasgow).

THREE BRONZE IN WRESTLING

On a day when Punia was embarrassed, the country's other wrestlers saved some face by winning three bronze. Aman Sehrawat, touted to be the face of India's future in the sport, picked third place after coming through the repechage. Repechage was also responsible for medals won by Sonam and Kiran.



Bajrang Punia (R) lost against Japan's Kaiki Yamaguchi

Perhaps, then it's understandable why watching the event unfold in real time made for sad viewing. Of a once imposing figure resembling a fallen gladiator; the Indian couldn't even live with the Japanese in the same postcode. That was apparent very early in the piece. Punia, once an unstoppable force, ran into a tide without knowing how to swim against the current. As Yamaguchi continued to toy with Punia, the latter was seemingly bereft of any weapons. He had no attacking avenues open and had given up the contest. He was just waiting for the sweet release of the referee's voice that would signal the end of the contest.

The only time he attacked successfully came after the end of the bout when he tore away the wrapping on his wrist. He raced through the mixed zone without stopping, the pain and the sadness in his eyes, evident. "I knew his style," Yamaguchi said after the bout. "He's a famous wrestler, I had come prepared for him and I had the mindset that I was only leaving with a victory." There will be questions asked on whether he did the right thing by taking the quota that was offered to him to compete directly rather than going through a selection trial. There will also be questions asked on whether the officials were right to award him a quota when he hadn't taken part in a competitive bout for 13 months.

The day began promisingly for the wrestler. A 10-0 VSU over Ronil Tubog before a trickier 4-0 VPO win over Alibeg Alibegov of Bahrain put him in the semifinals. For a man who had started training just before July, reaching the semifinals without conceding a point was a solid start towards defending the gold.

One of the top dogs of the discipline was waiting for him in the semifinal. Iran's 2022 world champion, Rahman Amouzadkhalili, current World No 3. It showed that one was at the top of his game while the other is returning to the mat after 13 months out. The scoreboard said it was 8-1 after six minutes but the Iranian knew he was going to win long before the six minutes was up. One move, a four-point takedown where he sent Punia's back crash landing onto the mat in the second stanza, brought out a scream from the crowd at the small but imposing wrestling hall, a small community space in Lin'an district, more than a hour's drive away from downtown Hangzhou.

Wait and watch on recovering Gill: Dravid

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @ Chennai

Rahul Dravid | ASHWIN PRASATH

INDIA'S ace opening batter Shubman Gill is down with illness and is doubtful for India's World Cup opener against Australia to be played at Chepauk on Sunday. On Friday morning, it was learnt that Gill was unwell, but Team India's chief coach Rahul Dravid revealed that the 24-year-old was feeling better. Dravis did not confirm the opener's availability and insisted that the team would take a call on the eve of the game.

"He is (Gill) certainly feeling better today (Friday). The medical team is monitoring on a day-to-day basis. They have not ruled him out as yet. So we will see. We have 36 hours to go, we will see what decision they take," said Dravid.

Gill has been one of the top performers for India in the fifty-over format this year. As the top run-getter in the previous month's Asia Cup, he amassed 302 runs in six innings, including a ton against Bangladesh and two fifties. In case Gill remains unavailable for the WC opener, Ishan Kishan could be promoted to the top order with the youngster opening the Indian innings alongside skipper Rohit Sharma.

The World Cup began with a bang with New Zealand defeating England by nine wickets. The Kiwi's chased down 282 in a matter of just 36.2 overs with Devon Conway and Rachin Ravendra notching up unbeaten centuries each. As Chepauk and many wickets in the country are batter friendly, many wonder what would be a safe total.

"One run more than the opposite team. I think it will be safe (laughs). It is hard to predict each condition. That is going to be the beauty of this World Cup. With so many venues that these matches are going to be played in, (we will get) so many different wickets at those venues. We have to adapt and act based on the conditions. Each venue will be different," explained Dravid.

With his first ODI World Cup as a head coach around the corner, Dravid insisted that he allows the team and the captain Rohit Sharma to evolve and move forward on their own.

"Honestly once the game starts, it's the captain's team. It's the team that needs to take it forward, they need to execute it, they need to do the job," said Dravid.

True homecoming for Andhra's Teja

FIROZ MIRZA @ Hyderabad

BORN in Vijayawada, Andhra Pradesh, the Netherlands all-rounder Anil Teja Nidamanuru felt like home when he visited the Rajiv Gandhi International Cricket Stadium in Hyderabad on Thursday.

At the age of six, Teja had moved to Auckland, New Zealand with his mother Padmavathi Pallekona as she had got a job there. But before the big shift, Teja got to stay with his grandparents — Pitchia Shastri and Samraga Lakshmi Pallekona — in Vijayawada because his mother was studying and working in Singapore. It was here he developed the love for cricket when his grandfather bought him his first cricket bat.

"Hyderabad used to be in Andhra, coming here is like coming to home to me," the middler-order batter and right-arm off-break bowler told this daily on the eve of his team's clash against Pakistan. "I lived here for a while when I was a kid. I have a family here as well. My mom's sister and her family live here in Hyderabad. So, they are close relatives. Went to the stadium yesterday (Thursday). It's a really lovely stadium, we are really excited to play there as a team and me as an individual as well. Coming back to Hyderabad, speaking Telugu a little bit and getting used to everything does feel like home definitely."

Anil Teja Nidamanuru's family during Friday's match | VINAY MADAPU

After scoring that quickfire hundred against West Indies in a World Cup Qualifier match in Harare, Zimbabwe, which eventually his team won in the Super Over, the 29-year-old cricketer had wished for his team's qualification for the marquee event so that he can play in front of his family. It came true as the Dutch qualified for the ODI World Cup.

Around 40 of his relatives and friends including mother, aunt, little sister, nephew and brother-in-law visited the facility as Teja made his ODI World Cup debut in front of them. "My immediate family lives in Vijayawada and they are definitely coming to watch the match on October 6 and 9 against New Zealand. So that will be very proud and amazing moment for me and also for them because they have never been to a live cricket game before."

WORLD CUP TRIVIA

Australia have appeared in the most World cup finals – 7, winning 5 of them.

Pakistan post 81-run victory

ENS @ Hyderabad

BAS DE LEEDE was not even born when his father Tim de Leede played a World Cup match against Pakistan back in 1996 in Lahore. He went on to represent his country in three World Cups with the 2007 edition in the Caribbean being his swansong as a player. During his playing days, the all-rounder saw his team winning two matches in the showpiece event — once against Namibia in 2003 and once against Scotland four years later. Despite a bright career, Tim never saw the Orange beating a full member in the World Cup. It looked possible, though briefly, on Friday when his son claimed four wickets against Pakistan to bowl them out for 286 and then scored an almost run-a-ball 67 in Netherlands' chase. However, his efforts went in vain as Pakistan won by 81 runs.

Brief scores: Pakistan 286 in 49 ovs (Rizwan 68, Shakeel 68; De Leede 4/62) bt Netherlands 205 in 41 ovs (De Leede 67, Vikramjit 52; Rauf 3/43).

PCB shoots letter to ICC as Pak journalists, fans yet to get visas

FIROZ MIRZA @ Hyderabad

EVEN as the Pakistan cricket team was taking on the Netherlands in their first ODI World Cup match here at the Rajiv Gandhi International Cricket Stadium in Hyderabad on Friday, the Pakistan Cricket Board's letter, which it shot to the International Cricket Council at the start of this week, started doing the rounds.

In the letter, the PCB has expressed its disappointment over Pakistani journalists and fans facing visa issues ahead of the team's opening game against the Netherlands. "PCB is disappointed to see that Pakistani journalists and fans are facing uncertainty about obtaining an Indian visa to cover Pakistan's opening game in the ICC World Cup," reads the letter. One of the PCB officials speaking on the development confirmed that the letter has been written to the ICC. "It was probably written on Monday to make sure our journalists and fans get visas before the first match. Now, we hope they get before the second game scheduled on October 10," he said. The PCB hoped that the letter would pave the way for journalists and fans to attend the World Cup games featuring Pakistan soon. "We have been reminding ICC about their obligations."

"This is an obligation of our host and they are working hard on it with our full support. Every effort is being made to get this sorted," ICC spokesperson said.

EL NINO FLIP FLOP YEARS

Year with deficit monsoon: 1951, 1965, 1972, 1982, 1987, 2002, 2004, 2009, 2015, 2023

Year With normal monsoon: 1953, 1957, 1963, 1969, 1991, 1997

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

THE yo-yo Southwest monsoon recently ended but not before it wreaked havoc in a few states in the North. The total deficit recorded by the Indian Meteorological Department (IMD) for the Southwest monsoon was nearly 6% less than the long period average (LPA) — 820 mm as against the LPA of 868.6 mm.

It was the first time in the last five years that India received deficit monsoon. The last deficit monsoon was in 2018. (Table 1). Its impact was quite visible on Indian agriculture as the gross acreage of sowing of major food crops like pulses and oilseeds came down. This year's Southwest monsoon came under the shadow of an El Nino, which occurs due to changes in the surface temperature of the Pacific Ocean, and weakens the Indian monsoon. Of the 16 El Nino years since 1951, 10 of them resulted in deficit monsoon in the country (see box).

Besides El Nino, other climatic conditions were too unfavourable for the Southwest monsoon. At the end of May, very severe cyclonic storm Biporjoy over east-central Arabian Sea, weakened and delayed the monsoon's onset. The monsoon finally arrived on June 8 instead of June 1. Biporjoy took away moisture and weakened the monsoon.

The monsoon wind's progress, too, was quite slow. It was stuck for days in southern India and East India, which led to large-scale deficit rainfall across the country. The monsoon then hit Delhi and Mumbai almost simultaneously after 62 years. In Delhi, it arrived two days early while it was late by 13 days in Mumbai.

June had a 9% deficit followed by 13% surplus rainfall in July. (Table 2) However, August was the driest in recorded history of the IMD since 1901. It had a deficit of 36%. But September ended with 13% surplus.

Out of the total 36 meteorological subdivisions, three subdivisions constituting 9% of the total area of the country received excess, 26 subdivisions received normal rainfall (73% of the total area) and seven subdivisions (18% of the total area) received deficient season rainfall. These seven subdivisions which got deficient rainfall are Nagaland, Manipur, Mizoram and Tripura, Gangetic West Bengal, Jharkhand, Bihar, East UP, South interior Karnataka and Kerala. IMD Director General Dr Mrutyunjay Mohapatra said major factors like positive Indian Ocean Dipole and favourable Madden Julian Oscillation neutralised the El Nino impact.

Food stock crisis

Deficit and uneven monsoon is bad news for Indian agriculture. Around 50% of the country's workforce is directly engaged in farming. Besides, more than 52% of the country's agricultural land is rainfed. A below normal rainfall would directly impact its productivity. The Standard Precipitation Index, which is the IMD's drought monitoring tool, showed that more than half the country was going through drought-like conditions at the end of the Southwest monsoon.

Large temporal variations in rain caused extreme drought-like conditions in Maharashtra, Karnataka, Bihar, Jharkhand, Odisha and Kerala. Deficit rainfall in Karnataka also triggered a duel with Tamil Nadu over the equitable sharing of the Cauvery's water.

The overall kharif crop sowing area increased by 2.36% over the previous year. The bulk of the sowing was of paddy and sugarcane. But the acreage of major nutritious crops like pulses and oilseeds was down by 5.49% and 3.16% respectively compared to last year. Like the previous year, the production of pulses dipped – a major worry for consumers as well as the government in an election year. (Table 4)

Also, India's food stock is on shaky ground. The production and procurement of wheat for buffer stock is way below normal. Its lesser production led to an increase in wheat price to ₹2,700 a quintal at the wholesale market while the minimum support price was ₹2,125 per quintal. Experts feel the deficit monsoon could further reduce the production of kharif crops and consequently push up food inflation. The government has already slapped an export ban on non-basmati, broken rice, and imposed a 20% duty on export of par-boiled rice. Similarly, it has also imposed stock limits on pulses, sugar and extended its ban on export of wheat to ensure supply and control food inflation.

WILDFIRE SEASON approaching. Act early to cut loss, says expert

SUDARSAN MAHARANA @ Bhubaneswar

AS the country braces for another forest fire season in January, a pilot study of Indian Council of Forestry Research and Education (ICFRE) Dehradun and other central institutes that have estimated the economic loss due to wildfire at lakhs of rupees per hectare, underlines the need for a robust preventive mechanism to protect Indian forests from the impending summer crisis.

The study 'Estimation of economic losses in real term per hectare basis due to forest fire in Uttarakhand and Madhya Pradesh' carried out by the ICFRE in collaboration with the Forest Survey of India (FSI), Govind Ballabh Pant National Institute of Himalayan Environment (GBPNIHE), Wildlife Institute of India (WII) and National Institute of Hydrology (NIH), quantified the tangible and intangible losses due to wildfire in these two states.

Carried out by all the partner bodies separately in 42 forest fire polygons of Uttarakhand and 49 forest fire polygons of Madhya Pradesh, the study estimated economic losses of vegetation and carbon content change, forest produce, wildlife habitat as well as hydrology in the range of ₹130 to ₹2,01,663 per hectare (ha).

As per the GBPNIHE estimation, the economic loss of forest produce such as fodder, fuel wood, wild edibles and litter fall etc., in a subtropical pine forest of Uttarakhand due to forest fire is a staggering ₹2,01,633 per hectare for moderate burnt and ₹1,91,905 per hectare for low burnt forest produce. The forest produce loss in Himalayan moist temperate forest in the state is even higher at ₹1,90,024 per hectare for moderate burnt and ₹2,17,537 per hectare for low burnt.

In tropical moist deciduous forest, the loss is ₹46,824 per hectare for moderate burnt and ₹26,915 per hectare for low burnt, while in tropical dry deciduous forest it is ₹1,21,328 per hectare for moderate burnt and ₹9,595 for low burnt.

The loss of forest produce in Madhya Pradesh too ranges between ₹1,20,825 per hectare and ₹83,628 per hectare in tropical moist and tropical dry deciduous forests.

Similarly, the ICFRE assessment of loss to carbon pool in Uttarakhand forests, has been pegged at ₹17,919 per hectare in the event of moderate burnt and ₹3,179 per hectare in the event of low burnt for the tropical moist deciduous forest.

In subtropical pine forest of the Himalayan state, the loss of carbon pool has been estimated to be ₹23,332 per hectare for moderate burnt and ₹5,287 per hectare for low burnt, while in the Himalayan moist temperate forest, the damage is ₹36,126 per hectare for moderate burnt and ₹684 per hectare for low burnt.

Other institutes have also estimated the loss to wildlife habitat and hydrology in the range of hundreds to thousands of rupees per hectare in these two states.

However, experts are of the opinion that this assessment that indicates loss of hundreds of crores in both the states due to wildfire is only the tip of the iceberg.

Former Principal Chief Conservator of Forest of Odisha (PCCF), Sandeep Tripathy who led the forest fire task force formed by the Odisha government, said areas across the country, especially those prone to wildfires in the East, South and Central India, should be included in the national fire inventory. Odisha, Andhra Pradesh and Chhattisgarh are among the states prone to forest fires. It would help during the post-fire assessment as it would provide a larger picture of the economic losses India suffers each year due to forest fire, he added.

Keeping in view the pace at which wildfire spreads and causes damage to the forest and wildlife, Tripathy said activities such as creation of fire lines and removal of fire load through controlled burning in vulnerable forests should be completed before the beginning of the forest fire season itself. "This would help in bringing down the wildfire cases to a significant level," he said.

Stating that the country already has a robust satellite based forest fire alert system to send real time updates on fire points to forest divisions, the retired IFS officer underlined that advance planning and suitable distribution of resources — that is apportioning of manpower and machinery — is equally important to check incidents of forest fire.

A CURATED GUIDE TO EVENTS IN THE CITY THIS WEEKEND PG 2

A still from the film

In his acting debut, dancer Mithun Shyam plays Gunasekaran, the love interest of Kangana Ranaut in Chandramukhi 2

STAGE TO SILVER SCREEN

MONIKA MONALISA

AFTER being on stage for the better part of his life, city-based Bharatanatyam dancer Mithun Shyam has made his big screen debut with Chandramukhi 2, starring Kangana Ranaut, Raghava Lawrence, and Lakshmi Menon in principal roles. Shyam plays the role of Gunasekaran. "My character is the love interest of Kangana Ranaut, who plays the role of Chandramukhi. The movie primarily focuses on the story of Chandramukhi from 200 years ago, he says.

The city-based dancer admits that the role was overwhelming for him. "The team had not yet finalised who would be playing the role of Chandramukhi; they were still looking at various options. Then, as luck would have it, they told me that it was going to be me. I think it was one of the best things that has ever happened to me. To be able to share screen space with an actor of Kangana Ranaut's calibre was too exciting for me," says Shyam, adding, "She can easily be the most talented actor of today. The kind of work that she has done, from Fashion to Tanu Weds Manu and Queen; she is truly an incredible artiste."

Irrespective of Ranaut's public image of being unabashedly vocal, Shyam says that when it comes to her work, she is very professional. "She understood that I was a dancer, turning into characters when we were on stage. She explained to me how I am supposed to refer to the camera and told me, 'I understand that you're a dancer, but the way you do things is different here'. She didn't have to coach me on acting because, after all, she is such a big actor; she could have told any of the assistant directors to do it, but she took the effort to do it herself," recalls Shyam, who was not camera-conscious since he has performed for cultural programmes on Doordarshan.

Being an accomplished dancer himself, it was a conscious decision for him to not choreograph his parts. "National-award-winning choreographer Kala Master did the choreography. I thought it would be wrong on my part to overstep a senior choreographer like her. As a matter of fact, I took it as a learning opportunity," he says, also mentioning that most of the shoot took place in Hyderabad and some parts in Mumbai.

FIT BIT

HUJANGASANA ARMS SPREAD VARIATION

(SEAL POSE)

This is a variation of Bhujangasana (Cobra Pose) with arms spread out wide and rested on fingertips. This modification of Sphinx Pose with minimal arm support makes it challenging to practice. This pose enhances lung capacity.

STEPS

- Start in Advasana (Reverse Corpse Pose), stay here for a couple of breaths.
- Inhale, widen your arms resting your palms on your fingertips.
- Point your fingers outwards.
- Lift your chest, shoulders, and upper body in a backbend.
- Keep your toes and heels together, legs stretched behind, and the feet resting on the floor.
- Roll your shoulders, opening your chest and expanding through your collarbones.
- Keep your elbows in line with your shoulders.
- Find a comfortable position for your head. You can either drop your head or keep it aligned with your chest.
- Stay here for about six breaths or as per the body's capacity. Look forward or tilt your chin upward for a stretch.
- To release, exhale and lower your arms, chest, and head, back to the mat. Align back in Advasana.
- Finally, relax in Makarasana or in Child Pose.
- Repeat the practice. Gradually increase the duration of holding the pose.

BENEFITS

- Makes your body flexible with great physical strength.
- Activates the functioning of digestive organs.
- Heals lungs and respiratory disorders like asthma, and allergies
- Ensures a good blood circulation.
- Gives relief from backache, neck ache sciatica pain by softening the spinal impingement and other such ailments.
- Simply kneads the abdominal organs certifying a healthy urinary system and proper waste elimination.
- Keeps seven chakras of the body balanced.
- Associates with the overall wellbeing and self-awakening.
- Activates the Anahata (Heart) Chakra.
- Enhances immunity and improves the sleep cycle.
- It can be practiced dynamically to promote better posture.

LIMITATIONS

People with carpal tunnel syndrome or any injury to the back, arms, or shoulders, should avoid.

In the case of recent abdominal surgery or pregnancy, you should avoid this pose.

HANGING LOOSE

NOW we are looking for 'bakras' (loosely translate as scapegoats) to blame for our traffic woes. Actually the bar has been raised from 'woes' to 'woe-be onto-us'! The outsider-insider card seems to be raising its ugly head again, and the transient working population streaming into our ooru is being looked upon with a jaded eye. Last week too, I had addressed the fact that the 'I love Bangalore Brigade' has to stop justifying the collapse of our city's 'stretched to its limit' infrastructure and take appropriate action with the appropriate authorities! We are much more than a city with mere great weather, (though equal in pollution to the bigger metros), pubs and tech-hubs. I know! My father, his colleagues and all the other unsung heroes gave this city, telecommunications, an enviable space-programme and indigenously manufactured defense equipment to name a few firsts. Arts, crafts, dance and drama proliferated here. We are slowly but surely running the risk of losing it all...

Whenever I feel a sense of despondency and foreboding, I connect with my friends and family. They provide the security of a warm and non-judgmental space where one knows that there are no masks. We are an eclectic group of friends comprising entrepreneurs, corporate hot-shots, doctors, business people and this time round we had the very interesting and talented Ambassador Lata Reddy thrown into the mix! Her long and distinguished career at the IFS has made us proud. So one can imagine the scintillating conversation that went around our table ranging from politics to the plebian!

I chose the new Turkish restaurant Öz by Kebapçi in UB City to meet up at. The array of hummus, kebabs, fragrant pilafs and baklavas kept us gastronomically spell-bound. The sounds of laughter that echoed in the restaurant had other tables smiling too, as the 'powerpuff' girls enjoyed our four hour luncheon thoroughly. We got along like a house of fire and for me it was a coup of sorts! I was the initial glue that bound them together, but by the end of the afternoon they had all exchanged cards and numbers. The young owner, Adeeb, was at hand to give us a small introduction and his vision, passion and unshakable dedication to be at the top of his game really impressed us. Bravo!

Chef-entrepreneur Tarun Sibal rose to fame for his renowned resto-bar Titlie, in Goa where he introduced the concept of collaborative cuisine. With his partner in Street Storyss, the whizz-kid Akshay Luthria, Sibal has opened a resto-bar in a small corner plot in Indiranagar. The place is called Swwing and we did swing by for some amazing gourmet pub-grub with a nicely paired bar whipping up some amazing cocktails an aperitivos. The vibe was young and eclectic and yet had a very up-market feel to it. Again I met up with friends who I hadn't caught up with in ages and as the young 'uns say we allowed ourselves to 'hang loose'!

Everything doesn't have to be a mad rush or at a frenzied pace. Sometimes 'hanging' and 'chillin' gives one a halcyon space to think, introspect and calm down.

We tend to save good memories in pen-drives and bad memories in the mind. If only we interchange locations life will be better.

Exploring new frontiers in fight against graft

A SHARADHAA

FIGHTER is a film that has been in the making for quite some time, that it features Vinod Prabhakar in a younger look from the recent past. Directed by Nuthan Umesh, the film has strong messages on pressing issues surrounding organic farming and its challenges while being an engaging commercial film at the core.

The film's narrative explores themes like farmer struggles, crop abundance, real estate corruption and the medical mafia, making it a socially conscious and relevant story that remains pertinent even years after its originally planned release.

The heart of the story revolves around Kotreshi, portrayed by Rajesh Nataranga, a passionate advocate for organic farming who highlights the harmful effects of chemical fertilizers on soil fertility. Unfortunately, the town's unscrupulous thugs exploit farmers by providing subpar seeds and harmful fertilizers, resulting in the degradation of once-fertile land. Their sinister agenda aims to transform this barren land into a profitable real estate venture.

As this crisis unfolds, town leaders stoop to poisoning Kotreshi's organic farms, leading the story towards a suspenseful climax.

The film's has a breezy romantic track with Vismaya (Lekha Chandra) deeply enamoured with Mohak (Vinod Prabhakar). The latter is protective of his mother (Nirosha), who serves as an ACP and goes to great lengths to ensure her safety, which includes sacrificing his love.

FIGHTER
Director: Nuthan Umesh
Cast: Vinod Prabhakar, Lekha Chandra, Nirosha, Pavana, and Sharath Lohitashwa

The second part of the film is where the central intrigue lies. The fate of Kotreshi's dream are affected by an unpredictable turn of events and Moksh emerge as the champion against these evil forces. The narrative touches upon the challenges faced by farmers and corruption in various sectors, offering resolutions that will likely continue to unfold in part 2.

Director Nuthan Umesh balances socially messaging and commercial entertainment equally. His adept handling of dialogues, adds depth to the characters and situations, giving the overall storytelling experience.

The action takes centre stage in the film, with Vinod Prabhakar showcasing his prowess in some jaw-dropping stunts. The physically demanding sequences highlight his toned physique, and he seamlessly transitions between action, sentiment, comedy, and love scenes. With six action sequences, the film keeps viewers engaged with some good stunts at various intervals.

With just one song throughout the entire movie, Gurukiran's background music complements the story and action sequences perfectly, enhancing the overall cinematic experience. The film's ensemble cast with Lekha Chandra's engaging portrayal in the first half, Pavana's breezy appearance, Sarath Lohitashva's commanding presence, and Kuri Pratap's comic relief contribute to the film's dynamics. While Raj Deepak Shetty and Nirosha have smaller roles, they still add to the ensemble's strength.

Fight for Organic Farming is a well-rounded commercial film that addresses important social issues while delivering entertainment through action, drama, and comedy. Director Nuthan Umesh's storytelling skills and Vinod's action stunts make this film a one-time watch for audiences who appreciate films that seamlessly blend action with social messages.

A nostalgic ode to childhood crushes and enduring friendship

A SHARADHAA

Abhi Rama Chandra is a delightful exploration of love, friendship, and the unexpected twists that life can throw. In a film landscape often dominated by conventional love triangles, this film stands out by offering a fresh take on familiar themes, ultimately leaving the audience charmed and emotionally invested.

The heart of the story directed by Nagendra Ganiga revolves around three young individuals from different backgrounds - Abhi (Ratha Kiran), Rama (Siddhu Moolimani), and Chandra (Natya Ranga). Their journey begins in the bustling city of Bengaluru, where they share a house while working hard to make ends meet. This setting provides the backdrop for their unique friendship and individual love stories.

Abhi, a talented theatre artist, carries a pair of earrings with sentimental value, a relic from a girl he met during his school days. Rama, a cab driver, guards a secret love story that unravels as the film progresses. Meanwhile, Chandra is deeply engrossed in PuBG, an online game, and nurtures an online crush.

At one point, it appears that these three friends may be entangled in a love triangle, each having encountered the same girl at different stages of their lives. However, the narrative takes an unexpected twist when they embark on a bachelor party trip to their hometown. It's in this rustic setting we get to discover whether Abhi, Ram, and Chandra will discover their true loves or face a bittersweet reality.

RATING 2.5/5

ABHI RAMA CHANDRA
Director: Nagendra Ganiga
Cast: Ratha Kiran, Siddu Moolimani, Natya Ranga, and Shivani Rai

Nagendra Ganiga explores the theme of friendship, highlighting how it remains a constant and guiding force through life's unpredictable twists and turns. Ratha Kiran's portrayal of Abhi exudes an introverted charm , while Siddu Moolimani brings a romantic depth to the story as Rama. Natya Ranga as Chandra adds humour and wit with his impeccable comedic timing, creating a well-rounded trio.

The contributions from the two female actors including Shivani Rai add to the narrative introduce intriguing twists that keep the audience engaged and guessing throughout the film's runtime. These characters add depth and complexity to the storyline, elevating it beyond the typical romantic drama.

The musical score composed by Ravi Basrur deserves a mention for its melodious tunes and light background scores that seamlessly blend with the film's theme, enhancing the overall viewing experience.

In conclusion, Abhi Rama Chandra is a heartwarming and relatable cinematic experience that beautifully captures the essence of love, friendship, and life's unexpected twists. The film's unique narrative, coupled with natural and endearing performances by some fresh and talented artistes, ensures that it will strike a chord with audiences of all ages, especially those who have cherished memories of their childhood crushes. It's a heartwarming reminder that love and friendship are universal, and timeless experiences shape our lives before we find our own paths to settle down.

Prof. Madhav Das Nalapat's 'Cold War 2.0' Unveiled at REVA

REVA University played host to the book launch of Prof Madhav Das Nalapat's latest book Cold War 2.0. The event held at Chanakya Auditorium was attended by personalities from various quarters, including writers, faculty, staff and students. The formal launch of the book was conducted by Dr P Shyama Raju, Chancellor of REVA University. Releasing the book, Dr. Shyama Raju expressed happiness in hosting such an important event. He remarked, "It is an honour and privilege for REVA University to launch Prof. Madhav Das Nalapat's new book at our campus. Students and others can learn and understand a lot from his speech and ideas."

Prof. Nalapat said that he wrote the book to avoid a war and not to start one. Speaking after the launch, Prof. Nalapat said that he's happy to be launching the book at REVA University as the whole University is built on the foundation of love. "At present most of our geopolitical discourses are through prisms. These prisms are based on invisible algorithms that bring only the most horrible things of our thinking to the surface. By this prism, the world looks like a gloomy place," he said.

He also mentioned that it gives a feeling that humanity is almost forgotten in this world. "But, when you interact with people, you see humanity everywhere. This creates a disconnect between what we experience in our thought processes and the information we get." According to Prof. Nalapat, this gap exists in today's society for real, and it was in this setting that the first Cold War and, later, the second Cold War took place. He also explained in detail about Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam and its relevance today. "Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam applies to those who have the right mind and the right spirit. Hence people must follow it with the right spirit."

The book launch was followed by a discussion about the book moderated by Dr. Shubha A, Dean, REVA Business School. The first book in the series, Cold War 1.0 by Prof. Nalapat, establishes the background for the second book, Cold War 2.0. She started the conversation by describing Cold War 1.0, which is the battle of the systems. Setting the context about the definition of the Cold War, which is a systematic competition between two superpowers, Dr. Shubha asked Prof. Nalapat to throw some light on geopolitics and foreign policy. "Policies cannot be framed based on how it should be, but rather they must be in such a way that it is how it is," he replied.

Prof. Nalapat also shared his views on how technology is empowering people's lives. "The next IT hub is going to be small towns and the shift will change in another few years from now," he said.

He concluded the session by expressing optimism about the future. "We must concentrate on the current concerns, with economic development ranking highly among them. The next step is to make sure that our youth have access to both employment and freedom of thought. This is the exact reason I considered writing a book," he stated.

Prof. Nalapat also thanked REVA University for the opportunity provided to launch the book at the sprawling campus. Penguin Books' Karthik also attended the event.
